Revolt Proves Anew Japan Will Not Voluntarily Grant Korean Independence

PHILADELPHIA, May 27.—American missionaries in Korea, despite the hardships and dangers incident to reconstruction following the quelling by the Japanese of the recent uprising, are planning to "Christianize every district in the country," according to the annual report of the Presbyterian board of foreign missions to the Presbyterian general assembly, made public recently.

Referring to the revolt, the report says: "The result proved anew that Japan will not voluntarily grant Korean independence; that the Koreans cannot secure it by force and that other governments, having long ago recognized Japanese annexation of the peninsula, will not interfere. Costly, too, was the movement to the Japanese, for it reinforced their critics, disheartened their friends, alienated the sympathy of allied nations and brought upon the ruthless militarists the opprobrious name of the Huns of the Orient."

Regarding the attitude of the American missionaries toward the Koreans' revolt against the Japanese, the report quotes Bishop Herbert Welch of the Methodist Episcopal church of Korea as saying: "It is no evidence of unkindness to the Japanese people that the missionaries became alienated by sympathy from the Japanese government but only a testimony to the deep humanity of their feelings and to an indignation against wrong-doing which was worthy of all praise."

"There is a general disposition to give the new administration in Korea a fair chance to remedy the undoubted abuses that exist," continues the report. "Americans," it says, "should distinguish between the civil and military parties among the Japanese. The former is composed of enlightened and progressive men, who feel as we do about the outrages that have been committed in Korea. The latter includes a large number of men who are thoroughly Prussian in their temper and conduct."

"Americans should bear in mind that there is a considerable element among the Japanese themselves who are greatly disturbed by the stern and non-handed policy of the military party in dealing with the Koreans and who favor a wise and humane policy in dealing with them. It would be not only unwise but unjust to make indiscriminate condemnation of the whole Japanese nation."

Declaring that "China is in a state of chaos," the board says "It has been gratifying to read the reassuring statements of several eminent Japanese as to the intentions of their government," adding, however, that "some thing more than words, however sincere, is required to remove misgiving and distrust." Greed, and, altruism, democracy and militarism, it says, are struggling for the mastery. During the past year, the report says, Chinese churches connected with the Presbyterian, Congregational, United Brethren and London Missions, have formed one organic Christian body. All other evangelical denominations have been invited to join.

Presbyterian foreign missionaries increased in 1919 from 1354 to 1428, and the native workers from 6804 to 6866. In order to meet the high cost of living, which in some fields like Japan, has increased over 300 per cent, the living allowances for the Presbyterian missionaries have been increased from the former standard of $1250 a year to $1500.

New methods of dealing with sedition is declared to have made mission activities in India more difficult. "All non-British subjects desiring to engage in philanthropic, educational, medical or missionary work being required to obtain a license." This was modified for the missionaries provided they declared due obedience and respect to the government and carefully abstained from political affairs. Reinforcements are called for "to check the growing power of Mohammedanism" in West Africa.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

A miscellaneous shower was tendered Miss Mae Steele last evening at the home of Miss Mary Doherty, 200 Grand street, by the girls of the W. H. Bagshaw company in honor of her approaching marriage to Mr. Leo J. Healy. Games were played and the following musical program was carried out. Piano selections by Misses Belle Walsh, M. Lemke, Rita McDonough and Catherine Shea. Solos by B. Mungovan, Mae McGuire, Anna Finnerty, Helen O'Neill and Molly Peterson. The feature of the evening was an exhibition dance by the Misses Margaret O'Dea and Nellie Galvin. The bride-to-be received many beautiful gifts including cut glass, silver and linen. The party broke up at a late hour, wishing Miss Steele much happiness in her married life. Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

SOLDIERS KILLED WITH HATCHETS

Turkish Nationalist Leader
Discusses Atrocities in Condemning Peace Treaty

Expresses Unalterable Opposition to Terms Allies Have Submitted to Turkey

ANGORA, Asia Minor, May 27.—(By Associated Press)—Unalterable opposition to the treaty of peace the allies have submitted to Turkey, was expressed here today by Mustafa Kemal Pasha, leader of the Turkish nationalist forces. He was asked by the correspondents for a statement relative to the treaty, and replied that he "welcomed an opportunity to speak on the situation."

"The allied powers, led by Great Britain, condemned Turkey to death," he declared, "and began to apply their decision by the very direct material manifestation known to the world. The Turkish nation naturally has declined to accept such a sentence. Our Caliph and sultan, the Turkish parliament and the Turkish government, the members of which were legal representatives of the Turkish nation, were unable to resist such a verdict and fell into the hands of the British by the sudden occupation of Constantinople."

"The Turkish nation, left without head or government in such a mortal crisis, took the responsibility for its own life into its own hands and created a people's government composed of its own representatives in Angora calling it the great national assembly and endowing it with legal executive powers. This assembly has chosen its executive department from the assembly itself under the presidency of the chairman of that body, Djellaladdin Arif Bey."

Men commanded by Anavours Pasha, the former Circassian bandit, who is now supporting the sultan's government enter villages and begin pillaging, calling themselves nationalists in order to discredit the real nationalist movement. In some places where they call themselves the emissaries of the Caliph and allies of the British, they are taking action openly against the Angora government. They associate themselves with Armenians and Greeks in order to cause disturbances. They entered Bull and, in conjunction with Armenians, killed a small detachment of Turkish soldiers and officers with hatchets."

MRS. SPRECKLES HONORED BY FRANCE

PARIS, May 26.—Mrs. Adolph Spreckels of San Francisco was guest of honor at a unique reception given here today by the French government in the salon of the grand palais. Many of the most prominent artists in France were present. The reception was arranged for the purpose of expressing to Mrs. Spreckels the appreciation of France and her artists of plans for the construction of Alila plaza, overlooking the Golden Gate, of a replica of the Palace of the Legion of Honor, as a lasting memorial to French and American soldiers. The building will be used as a museum and will cost several million dollars.

9 SUSPECTED SMALLPOX CASES IN BOSTON

BOSTON, May 27.—The development of nine suspected smallpox cases in this city, all traceable to a patient admitted recently at the Boston City Hospital, was reported today by Health Commissioner Woodward. In all the cases the disease has taken a slight form. Patients afflicted with it have been transferred from the hospital, and several wards placed under quarantine.

Dr. Woodward said that while the number of cases was unusual here, it was insignificant when compared with the weekly reports from many western cities. As a measure of precaution and not because of any real danger, Dr. Woodward explained, the graduation of a class of nurses at the hospital, set for tomorrow, has been postponed.

THIS BABY LION IS COUNTESS' PET

LONDON, May 27.—"Snuthin' at all to see Countess de Salvetera walking down the streets of London with her pet lion under her arms. The wild baby became too capersome for the management of the Savoy hotel and it now resides at the zoo—except when out for a stroll."

WOMEN OF THE ORIENT TO ATTEND CONGRESS

BABEL, May 27.—Among the women of the Orient who will be delegates to the congress of the International Woman Suffrage alliance to be held here soon, will be representatives of women's organizations in India, Egypt, Japan and Palestine. Miss Tchong Yu Siau of Canton will be the Chinese delegate.

Steady progress toward suffrage is being made in Palestine, where the Women's Equal Rights' association has branches in Jerusalem, Jaffa, Haifa and Tiberias. Members of these branches are, for the most part, Jewish women and Dr. Rosa Strauss, president of the parent association, reports that Arab women, who for ages have been mere beasts of burden are "taking courage" and striving to improve their condition. Dr. Strauss asserts that "many an Arab wife is refusing to put up with the treatment which for centuries custom has decreed for the women of that race."

CHINA REJECTS JAPAN'S OFFER

TOKIO, May 25.—(By Associated Press)—China's reply rejecting Japan's offer to open negotiations relative to the future status of Shantung has been received at the foreign office here. It says China is ready to supply guards for the railroad to displace Japanese engaged in that service, and declares that country considers the railroad a distinct and separate question from that of the province. Japanese officials point out that the withdrawal of Japanese guards was offered conditional upon China's opening general conversations relative to Shantung. It is considered that the reply is a refusal of the Japanese offer and, therefore, it is probable the status quo will be permitted to continue.

Bolsheviki Take Town of Borisov

LONDON, May 27.—The town of Borisov, on the Beresina river at its junction with the Minsk-Smolensk railway line, has been captured by the Bolsheviki in the campaign against the Poles, according to the soviet official statement for Wednesday, received by wireless from Moscow today.

Rapid Decline in Prices in France

PARIS, May 27.—Concern is felt in commercial markets throughout France because of a rapid decline in prices of staple commodities. In the past 30 days cotton had declined 244 francs per 50 kilograms in the Havre market, while coffee has fallen 76 and wool 35 points in the same time.

Wheat Crop Smallest in 20 Years

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The wheat crop of New South Wales has been so disastrously affected by drought that the yield probably will not be sufficient to meet domestic consumption in Australia, said a report today from the American consulate at Sydney. The crop was estimated at only 4,296,000 bushels, the smallest yield in 20 years.

To Put an End to Strikes

PARIS, May 27.—Parliament and the government will be asked by the union of French peasants to pass legislation intended to assure freedom of workers and put an end to strikes. I NEVER FELT BETTER THAN I DO THIS MORNING

Mrs. E. Benoit, 80 Arlington St., Manchester, N. H., will gladly tell you what wonderful results she has had from Goldline. While talking with Goldline nurse at Holland's Drug Store last Thursday when she came for more medicine, she remarked: "Well, your medicine surely has been a blessing to me. Before I commenced the Goldline treatment, I was the greatest sufferer any woman could be, and live. My head ached all the time. My stomach had swollen almost twice as large as it should be. My hand was all puffed up, also my limbs. That was due to my bad kidneys and bladder. My other ailments cannot well be told here, but I can say right here I am not the same woman I was before I found this wonderful medicine, GOLDLINE. No one would have thought there could have been any help for me as I had so many ailments. Now they are all gone. Just think, in less than two months I am a new woman and feel that I have a new lease on my life. There is some pleasure for a woman when she feels as I do."

after being sick these many years as I have been, as I am sure there's not another woman who has suffered any more than myself, and had as many ailments at one time, and could find nothing that would give me any relief, until I found that wonderful medicine, GOLDLINE, which has been a blessing to me in every way. Why should I not praise and recommend a medicine that has proved such wonderful work; has given the relief that no other medicine would do; has made a new woman of me and I am giving my statement for the good of others who may not know of such a wonderful medicine and of its great value to all suffering women. You can see me anytime and I will gladly tell you more of my case. Just take my advice as a friend. You will never regret it. Go to Holland's Drug Store and get Goldline today. They will tell you of its great work that is being done in Manchester. Goldline is sold in your city by: W. Dows (both stores), Carter & Sherburne, E. H. Butler & Co., W. P. Caisse, Jr., Fred Howard, Wm. P. Kieran, R. F. Webster, Frye & Crawford, Frank E. McNabb, Wm. N. Noon Co. It is also sold by Roland G. Wright in Billerica, John S. Woodward in Chelmsford, Conant & Co. in Littleton, Edward A. Woods in Wilmington, and dealers in Ayer, Westford, Dracut, Tewksbury and other towns. If your dealer does not carry Goldline in stock, have him secure it through Lawrence Drug Co.—Adv.

The suspension of the 74th bank, it was expected in commercial quarters, might affect one silk-exporting firm which had connections with the bank. Jimosuke Inouye, the governor of the Bank of Japan, predicted to the press that it would have no serious effects in other directions.

The official statement of the suspension announced that the bank had been closed for only three weeks, to permit of the examination and adjustment of its affairs.

OPERA HOUSE

A better selection could not have been made for farwell week by the Lowell Players than the amusing and highly entertaining comedy drama "Peg o' My Heart" which is being so successfully and cleverly presented at the Opera House. At today's performance a beautiful photo of Miss Fields will be given each woman patron, and on Saturday afternoon there will be a public reception by the entire company. Every one is cordially invited. And don't forget that the Players are particularly anxious to meet the playgoers of the city and suburbs. Saturday night will be good-bye night. Order your tickets in advance or you will be disappointed. Tel. 261. Box office open daily from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.

THE STRAND

Smiling Tom Moore—and what an irresistible smile he has—will be seen in "Duds," a great mystery story, at The Strand beginning today and for the remainder of the week. William Russell in "Leave It To Me," another of his rollicking, happy and unusually delightful photoplays, will be the other feature on this big two-part program. A story of the post-war effect in the Goldwyn production, "Duds" in which Moore is featured. The Sultan and his mind had left a trail of strife

Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Mr. James H. Allen suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work. He finally decided, after years of costly and fruitless treatment, to try the "Red Pills" for pale and weak women. He was cured. He is now free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body. With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally composed a medicine which quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system. He freely gave his discovery to others who look it with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. Dows, Druggists, has been appointed agent for Altonbury in this vicinity with the understanding that he will freely return a story of the purchase of the first two bottles to all who state they received no benefit.

wreckage through several generations. When the war ended, the ravaged countries were stripped of everything of value, and smugglers sought to mark the loot in money. The Sultan's diamond was among the loot. Captain Plunkett (Moore) discharged from the United States service, faces the dreary prospect of exiled clothes and a job. He's not unemployed for long. One eventful night he happens to be in a strategic position to aid a beautiful girl, wealthy Jeweler's daughter. Through this adventure he finds a job after his own heart, in the capacity of a detective. And what experiences he has. Just see the picture and be convinced, as well as thoroughly entertained. William Russell in "Leave It To Me," is jammed with tense situations and has a pleasing injection of humor that makes it a well-balanced photoplay. The story is set in a town environment and brings into collision extremes of the social scale—members of the local "society" and leaders of the underworld. A new comedy and Weekly will also be shown.

McWatters and Tyson, a splendid dancing and singing pair, will open up at the R. F. Kent's theatre this afternoon and will continue throughout the remainder of the present week. In place of Russell & Parker, who, because of illness, were forced to leave. McWatters and Tyson constitute one of the standard acts of vaudeville and their coming will please many persons. The other acts of the week's program are of excellent calibre, including Kharum, the Persian pianist; Gilbert and Wells, blackface entertainers; Anderson and Graves, in a special did comedy sketch; Four Ortons, wire performers; Adams & Griffith, a singing pair, and Madden, the jazz juggler. Interesting kinograms, Topical of the day and educational pictures will be shown.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
Fifth avenue and the Bowery mingle in the new Thomas H. Ince production, "The Dark Mirror," starring Dorothy Dalton, which is featuring the current program at the Merrimack Square theatre. The story, which is based on Louis Joseph Vance's popular novel of the same name, concerns a society girl who, through her resemblance to a hero of the underworld, becomes involved in a murder, mystery and a thrilling series of adventures. The other feature for the week-end is Robert Warwick, the noted dramatic actor, in "Thou Art the Man," a powerful story of present day life. The International News, a comedy and the Burton Holmes travel pictures round out the program.

THE OWL THEATRE
Crowded houses continue to be the rule at the Owl theatre, for the fame of the feature, "The River's End," the James Oliver Curwood story that has been put into film by the master hand of Marshall Neilan, has gone far and wide. The fact that Neilan handled his subject reverently, much as a Parisian perfumer handles his perfume, as if it were a breath of heaven. The story of "The River's End," however, is more than a breath. It is a tale of thrills, heart interest, the souls of men and women laid bare by the hand of an artist. There are only two more days to see it. The remainder of the bill is changed today. Comedy, a two reel feature crammed full of color work and surprise stunts, is something you will want to see; also Harold Lloyd, with his funny horn glasses, in his latest comedy, "His Royal Highness," and an episode of "The Lost City," starring Juanita Hansen. Watch the advertisements for next week's bill.

LAKEVIEW PARK
Tonight is the night when you can shake the dust and heat of the city and enjoy a few brief hours in the open. If dancing is healthful, and it is, so the sharks tell us, why is it its healthfulness added to one hundred fold when done in the open air. Lakeview park this year is ready to receive you with every one of its attractions going and the same old combination of musical gloom-killers, Miner-Doyle's and Barney Horan, will be there to smooth your cares away in the joys of the dance. Make it a big opening night and get the habit. Ten-cent carfare begins on Memorial day.

DEMAND UNINTERRUPTED TRUCKING IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, May 27.—The citizens' transportation committee began today drafting a "declaration of principles" demanding uninterrupted trucking of merchandise from piers and rail terminals, whether or not it originates from union sources or has been previously handled by union men. The declaration will be submitted to all of the trade unions in the city for endorsement.

The committee announced yesterday that a $500,000 fund to organize an independent trucking company, was "in sight." Decision to organize this company resulted from the refusal of truckmen's unions to haul goods to and from piers where striking union longshoremen and clerks have been replaced.

He Does Heavy Work

"For five years I have been troubled with my kidneys," writes Bert Dawson, 712 E. Walnut St., Canton, Ill. "I did heavy work, and that, with being on my feet all day, is a strain on a man's kidneys. My trouble started with severe, sharp pains over my back. The medicine I took gave some relief, but the trouble came back. I bought a bottle of Foley's Kidney Pills, and before it was noon, my pains had entirely left me, and I have not been troubled since." They relieve backache, rheumatism, sore, swollen and stiff muscles or joints.

HELD CONVENTION HERE

Lowell District Sunday School

Association at First Presbyterian Church

About a hundred men and women were in attendance at the annual convention—the first since 1917—of the Lowell district Sunday School association held in the First Presbyterian church in Appleton street yesterday afternoon and evening. Among those present were a number of the local ministers and representatives of the state organizations.

Both sessions of the convention were presided over by President John Perry. The afternoon meeting was opened by a brief devotional service led by Rev. A. G. Warner. A short time was then given up to the consideration of business matters.

Mrs. Viola V. Morris gave a talk on the subject, "The Important Two—the Teacher and the Child." Mrs. Morris is state superintendent of children's work, and in her talk frequently referred to her experiences in that position.

"The Home Department" was the subject of an address by Miss Katherine G. Bourne, state secretary of home extension work. She told of the work that she has in hand and pointed out useful lessons for the conduct of home departments in the Sunday schools.

A plea for a program of reconstruction in the Sunday schools was made by Rev. Edward Babcock, pastor of the First Baptist church, in an address on the subject, "Mending the Rift within the Sunday School Lute."

Late in the afternoon the convention resolved itself into group conferences for the consideration of various phases of Sunday school work. The conferences and those who conducted them were as follows: "Children's Work," Mrs. Viola V. Morris; "Young People," Rev. Edward Babcock; "The Home Department," Miss Katherine G. Bourne; "Adult Division," Dr. E. Morris Ferguson.

The ladies of the church served a supper at 8 o'clock under the direction of the following committee: Mrs. Frank George, chairman; Mrs. Robert Wilson, Mrs. John McCord, Mrs. Lizzie Harris, Mrs. William Harris, Mrs. Thomas Sutherland, Mrs. David Peters, Mrs. Hayden Russell, Mrs. John MacDonald and Miss Florence Doolie.

A song service, led by Albert Waterman, with Miss Minnie Tucker as organist, opened the evening session of the convention.

Rev. J. E. Kennedy, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, welcomed those present at the convention to the church. The scriptures were read by Rev. Nathaniel W. Matthews, of the First P.M. church, and a prayer was offered by Rev. Caleb E. Fisher, D.D., of the First Universalist church.

Following came an address on "Relationship of State and District Work" by Sidney R. Porter of Newton, and an interesting talk on "The School of Religious Education" by Arthur K. Whitcomb.

At a short business meeting Frank J. Spooner, treasurer, reported that all outstanding bills had been paid, and Willard Ryan of the enrollment committee reported 295 names on the enrollment list. A report for the resolutions committee was read by Arthur Lundvall.

Officers for the coming year were elected as follows: President, John Perry; vice president, George W. Hunt; secretary, Elizabeth F. Tiffany; treasurer, Frank J. Spooner.

Rev. J. Morris Ferguson, D.D., state secretary of the Sunday School association, gave the closing address, and benediction was pronounced by Rev. George B. Marston of the Fifth Street Baptist church.

Eight families in Salem were all prepared to move, but in the scarcity of tenements the moving all depended on one family vacating first. A child in that family came down with scarlet fever, and the moving of the eight families is indefinitely delayed.

BETTER THAN TWO DOCTORS

MRS. ROSE LAMARCHE

Two years ago I became acquainted with RED PILLS for pale and weak women. I started to take them as directed, and I owe my good health of today to their beneficial qualities. I have had eight children and four premature confinements. After the first years of married life, I became so weakened and in such poor health that I was unable to do my own work, as I had always done in the past. I went to see two doctors, followed their advice, but without results, my health was always the same. I then stopped taking their medicine and put myself solely under the influence of RED PILLS for pale and weak women; fifteen boxes did the work and restored me to good health, which is saying that I owe them more than I can ever repay. My little girl now takes RED PILLS and whenever needed, I will be sure to take them again also.

MRS. ROSE LAMARCHE,
5 Laval Place,
Lowell, Mass.

RED PILLS are for women only. They are always sold in boxes of fifty pills, 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50. See that the name of the "Franco American Chemical Company Limited" is on every box.

ADMIRAL SIMS APPEARS IN REBUTTAL TESTIMONY

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Rear Admiral Sims, appearing before the senate naval investigating committee today in rebuttal testimony, declared that "the navy department witnesses" had revealed a condition in the navy even more distressing than I could have imagined and constitutes a much more serious criticism of the deplorable conditions referred to than I myself have submitted."

"A very careful review of the evidence submitted by the navy department witnesses," said the admiral, "shows that in no single instance were the 13 points raised by me in criticism disproved. On the contrary, most of them were freely admitted. The testimony of the department witnesses seemed to be designed, not to disprove, but to explain them away or to obscure them by the use of extraneous issues."

Admiral Sims read from a long prepared statement, quoting from the testimony of Admiral Benson and Rear Admiral Badger, McKean, Fletcher and Niblack, and Captain Pratt. These witnesses, he said, almost unanimously attributed the conditions to the faulty organization of the navy department and favored reorganization.

Secretary Daniels' testimony, Admiral Sims declared, had been remarkable alike for its mistakes and misinterpretations and for its unrestrained assault upon my services during the war.

"I wish to state very clearly and once and for all, that in all the comments I shall have to make," Admiral Sims said, "I do not desire in the slightest degree to imply that they are intentional or that the secretary has not sincerely convinced of the truth and correctness of his conclusions."

Admiral Sims said he would make no attempt to answer the "personal reflections and aspersions contained in the testimony of the secretary."

All Delegates Now Chosen

Sign field of "favorite sons" practically precludes any possibility of a campaign on the first ballot. Even the most optimistic campaign managers here are not claiming victory before the third ballot, and the more conservative party leaders predict that the break will not come before the fifth or sixth at the earliest.

Food-Lowden Contests

One big factor which may upset campaign managers' predictions is yet to be dealt with. One hundred and 45 contests have been or will be filed, more than one-seventh of all the seats to the convention being at stake, and the national committee which meets Monday to decide these contests and prepare the temporary roll, may materially alter the prospects of several candidates.

The principal contests are between supporters of Maj. Gen. Wood and Gov. Frank O. Lowden.

In addition to the 145 contests, 64 surplus delegates, with fractional votes have been chosen from 10 states and the national committee's rules provide that their right to seats shall also be contested. The convention called that no overseas delegations should be seated and no extra seats have been provided.

Division of Delegates

Figures compiled here show the following division of the convention vote: Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, 153; Senator Hiram W. Johnson, 109; Gov. Frank O. Lowden, 71; favorite sons and untried, 615.

In the favorite son list Senator Warren G. Harding has 39 votes from Ohio; Senator Sutherland 19 from West Virginia; Senator Miles Poindexter is expected to receive Washington's 14, and Milgo Pritchard of North Carolina, is expected to get 17 of his state's 22 votes.

Campaign managers, hero of the three leading candidates all claim victory. The Wood and Johnson camps make definite predictions as to their first ballot vote, the supporters of the general claiming 355 votes and those of the senator 236. The Lowden forces while professing their confidence are not prepared to quote figures.

Wood Managers Confident

"Leonard Wood," says a statement from his headquarters, "has so increased his voice in the last week that a first ballot prediction of 385 votes was made today at Wood headquarters here. This is more than the combined instructed vote of all other candidates. On the first ballot he will be a big leader and this total will increase steadily until nomination is assured."

The Johnson headquarters, which is now in charge of Hiram W. Johnson, Jr., the senator's son, announced with equal positiveness that:

Johnson on Fifth or Sixth Ballot

"Senator Hiram W. Johnson already has 236 pledged delegates, who will vote for him on the first ballot and will stick with him to the last ditch. His vote on the first ballot will be equal, if not greater, than that of any other candidate, and by the fifth or sixth ballot he will be nominated."

"Going to Win"—Lowden

"We are going to win," said the statement from the Lowden camp. "We have had no time to sum up, and figures therefore are unavailable, but we are going to win, and the situation looks even better than it did last week."

Work on the convention hall is progressing rapidly, and Charles R. Hull, superintendent of the Coliseum, has assured the convention committee that the more than 13,000 seats will be in place 24 hours before the convention is called to order by Chairman Will H. Hays of the national committee.

Extra Balconies Erected

Extra balconies are being erected to provide nearly 1000 more seats than were available at any previous convention.

The speaker's platform and seats for 2000 distinguished visitors have already been erected. In the Coliseum annex, offices of the convention committee and officers and the room of the national committee, where the contests will be heard next week, have been in readiness for some time.

National committeemen began arriving early this week and a majority of the 52 members are expected to be on hand by Monday. Chairman Hays will arrive Sunday. A. T. Hart of Louisville, chairman of the convention committee on arrangements, arrived yesterday.

Want Young Men on Farms

School boys have greatly relieved the farm situation and that their services are in even greater demand this year. With the co-operation of parents and school officials, the department of agriculture could place hundreds of boys in good positions that would materially increase food production in the state. Boys would be placed on farms or in farm camps under proper supervision, following the plan carried out by the Massachusetts committee on public safety during the war.

Superintendent Dow points out that the matter would require the appointment of an enrolling officer in each high school to enroll boys of more than 16 years of age. School principals also are asked to name teachers whom they recommend as camp supervisors at a salary of $100 a month, to be paid by the state.

Principal Harris said today that the idea will be given as much prominence as possible throughout the school. Several boys already have approached him on the matter, but in most every case the young man feels that the compensation offered is not equal to that he would be able to get during vacation time in some other line of work.

The department of agriculture is attempting to bring out the patriotic side of the question, saying that young men owe it to their state, their families and themselves to pitch in and pull the commonwealth through this crisis. The department cannot say too much, it seems, about the seriousness of the situation next winter as it now appears.

OPPOSITION TO MANDATE

Sen. Hitchcock, Democratic Treaty Leader, Out Against President's Plan

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Democratic opposition developed yesterday to President Wilson's request to congress for authority to accept a mandate over Armenia.

Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, administration leader in the peace treaty fight, joined republicans opposing the measure and there were indications that other democrats would stand by him. Announcement of Senator Hitchcock's purpose not to support the administration in this instance was made while republican leaders of the house were trying to agree upon the speediest method of disposing of the whole question.

The meeting of the foreign affairs committee, called to obtain the views of Secretary Colby, was postponed because of the secretary's inability to attend, but there were many informal conferences by both parties, at which members expressed strong objection to any proposal which would send American troops to Europe or Asia.

Chairman Porter indicated that the president's message would be considered briefly and then laid on the table, which would end it.

Inasmuch as the senate has failed to ratify the treaty, with its League of Nations covenant, republican members of the house committee declared there were legal objections to the president's proposal. They contended that to accept a mandate would be like doing indirectly what congress had not permitted to be done directly.

The house committee is not expected to meet until Friday but the senate foreign relations committee probably will take up the mandate question today. In the senate, as in the house, the general desire seemed to be to table it, although there was the suggestion that the president might call congress in special session during the summer for its consideration.

The president was asked in a resolution introduced yesterday by Representative Mason, republican, Illinois, for full information as to the cost and number of troops required in connection with his mandate proposal. Mr. Mason insisted that congress "should know before adding to the burden of the overtaxed people."

WILL PARADE ON MEMORIAL DAY

The British and Canadian War Veterans' association at its regular meeting last evening completed arrangements for its participation in the Memorial day parade next Monday. J. A. McEntee was appointed an aid to the chief marshal and W. Dawson will be in charge of the veterans.

A memorial service will be held at St. John's Episcopal church in Gorham street next Sunday evening at 6.45 in honor of the British and Canadian veterans who gave up their lives in the world war. Members will attend in civilian clothes.

The association expects a large turnout of members in the parade on Memorial day. The veterans will wear uniforms and those not having uniforms will appear in civilian clothes and white gloves. A special committee has been appointed to decorate the graves of deceased members.

At last evening's meeting the resignation of Lewis Balfe, treasurer, was announced owing to business reasons and John Fairburn was elected to fill the vacancy. A vote of thanks was extended Mr. Balfe for his services.

The following committee was appointed to consider plans for a mid-summer dance: John Hurst, Joseph Percival, John Fairburn, Frank Hobbs and James Higgs.

AT WILLIAMS COLLEGE

Ceremonies of Historic Interest June 20—Remains of Founder to be Received

WILLIAMSTOWN, May 27.—Ceremonies of historic interest will be held at Williams college on Sunday, June 20, when there will be received here the remains of Col. Ephraim Williams, founder of the college, transferred from Lake George where he fell in battle Sept. 8, 1755; and a memorial of Williams' men who died in the civil war and world war will be unveiled.

The remains of Col. Williams are to have final resting place in a receptacle under the floor of the college chapel and his name as well as those of Williams' men who gave their lives in the two wars will be included in a roll of honor in the form of stone tablets on the rear wall of the chapel chancel. Thus will appear in the religious life of Williams a record of all its soldier dead beginning with the founder.

The chapel was erected as a memorial of Frederick F. Thompson, of New York city, and the memorial of the founder and the soldiers is a gift to the college of Mrs. Thompson.

Gov. Coolidge and representatives of the army and navy, including, if possible, Gen. Pershing and Admiral Sims, are expected to attend the impressive exercises marking the reception of the remains of Col. Williams. These will include a military escort and procession to the chapel which will be representative of the college and its graduates.

A descriptive tablet sunk in the stone floor of the cathedral-like chapel will mark the resting place of Col. Williams and above the inscribed panels on the wall of the chancel will appear in bronze letters this inscription: "In faithful remembrance of the founder who fell in battle and of the sons of Williams who gave their lives that the blessings of free government might endure."

National, state and Williams college battalion flags are to have permanent places in the memorial.

RESTORATION OF LOUVAIN LIBRARY

BERLIN, May 27.—Restoration of the famous Louvain library has been begun by the German government at a cost of more than 5,000,000 francs, says the National Zeitung, in execution of the agreement with Belgium. Restoration of paintings carried off during the war is also proceeding, the newspaper says.

According to the same authority, Germany had restored to France up to April 18 billion marks in cash and securities and large quantities of art works, documents and archives, and to Belgium about the same amount.

Baby Specialists.

THAT there are Physicians who specialize on Infant ailments you know. All Physicians understand Infant troubles: all Physicians treat them. It is his profession, his duty, to know human ills from the Stork to the Great Beyond. But in serious cases he calls in the Specialist. Why? He knows as every Mother knows, or ought to know, that Baby is just a baby needing special treatment, special remedies.

Can a Mother be less thoughtful? Can a Mother try to relieve Baby with a remedy that she would use for herself? Ask yourself; and answer honestly.

Always remember that Baby is just a baby. And remembering this you will remember that Fletcher's Castoria is made especially for Infants and Children.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

The False and the True.

Advertising by the use of large space, the expenditure of huge sums of money have placed on the market, have put in your home, perhaps many articles that today have been discarded, as you will readily admit.

Do you recall anything that has more modestly appealed to the public than has Fletcher's Castoria: modest in all its claims, pleading at all times—and truthfully—for our babies?

The big splash, the misleading claims may win for a time, but the honest truth-telling advertiser is like the old story of the tortoise that beat the hare.

Mothers everywhere, and their daughters, new mothers, speak frankly, glowingly, enthusiastically in praise of Fletcher's Castoria. Speak of it lovingly as a friend that has brought comfort, cheer and smiles to their little one.

There are substitutes and imitations as there are for the diamond for anything of value. One might almost say that that which is copied has no value. So you have had the signature of Chas. H. GRAND LODGE WELCOMES CLAN GRANT

Clan Grant, Order of Scottish Clans, was formally welcomed into the grand lodge of Massachusetts last night, on the occasion of the first official visit of the state officers. Grand Chief Bertram Glenore of Quincy Point conducted the exercises, assisted by other officers of high rank. The meeting and installation was held in Post 123, G. A. R. hall and the exercises were followed by an entertainment program and refreshments.

Among the speakers were "Grand Taniat H. P. Sample of Fall River; Grand Treasurer Thomas W. MacLean of East Boston and Chief Potter of Boston. Grand Secretary W. E. J. Graham of Hingham outlined the procedure of a membership contest to be carried on between the clans of the state, with a gold medal prize for the winning clan.

PROPOSE CONGRESS TO DEFINE MEANING AND SCOPE OF MONROE DOCTRINE

VALPARAISO, May 26.—A pan-American congress of "internationalists" convoked by leading journalists of North, South and Central America, whose duty it would be to define the meaning and scope of the Monroe doctrine, is proposed by Juan Ignacio Galves, a Chilean publicist, writing in El Mercurio.

The members of the congress would be chosen, according to his plan, by the newspaper publishers of each country, including Canada, five from each and would meet this year, preferably in Buenos Aires. The definition arrived at would be presented for official adoption by the next Pan-American congress which will meet in Chile.

EDUCATION AND AMERICANIZATION

Filling in on the program for Mrs. Pauline Revere Thayer of Boston, who was unable to be present, Joseph Spaw, field secretary for the North American Civic League for Immigrants, was the speaker yesterday at a public meeting held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms under the auspices of the special committee on education and Americanization. Many public school masters were in the audience.

Mr. Spaw stressed the acute need of establishing bureaus of information in cities which have even a small percentage of foreign born population, through which newcomers to this country might obtain invaluable information to obviate the possibility of extensive exploitation.

The speaker said the immigrants must not be patronized or underesti-

"PORT SAID WICKEDEST PLACE ON EARTH"

CARDIFF, May 26.—"Port Said still is the wickest place on earth," said Brigadier-General J. H. Raleson, principal of Wesleyan chapel, in an address to soldiers. "I know Calcutta, Bombay and Madras, better than I know London," he continued. "I have had to live in the east for a quarter of a century, and I know what Cairo and Ismailia are; but I have seen more sin and appearances of sin in one hour in Port Said than in all the rest of my experiences."

mated in the work of Americanization and above all things, must be treated as normal human beings. He told of well-intentioned social service workers in Boston who had been virtually chased out of foreign districts because of a lack of realization as to the extent of the immigrant's sensibilities in the matter of being patronized.

Clarence M. Weed, chairman of the special committee, said that another effort would be made to secure Mrs. Thayer as a speaker, possibly at the next meeting in about two weeks.

DANDELIONS ARE NOW IN DEMAND

WINCHESTER, Va., May 27.—Prohibition and the high cost of living has elevated the lowly dandelion to lordly estate in this section of the country. Residents this spring are seeking the little yellow blossoms everywhere, scouring lawns where the dandelions have been seen. The dandelions have been used as a pest, country lanes and pasture fields, being baskets with the blossoms and the green leaves. The little blossoms go into old time dandelion wine. The leaves, young and tender, have long been eaten as greens similar to spinach.

GERMANY HAS LOST SIXTH OF COTTON INDUSTRY BUT STILL RANKS THIRD

BERLIN, May 26.—The Bremen firm of Hagedorn, in a report on the continental cotton situation, states that Germany through the loss of Alsace Lorraine has lost one-sixth of her cotton industry but is still third after the United States and Great Britain in the number of spindles and looms.

The German cotton industry is working at 75 to 80 per cent. normal and Hagedorn estimates that to occupy the continental looms fully it would require 2,500,000 bales of American cotton during the next six months.

The breweries of Great Britain have a combined annual output of between 15,000,000 and 20,000,000 standard barrels of beer.

Child Almost Dead Grandmother Saves Life

Roxbury, Mass. A grandmother in Roxbury writes: "I put great faith in your medicine, and one of my children was dying. The doctor said she could not live until morning, and I ran out to the drug store, got a bottle of Dr. True's Elixir, was so excited I gave her the bottle at once, and at night I gave her the other half. I thought it's either kill or cure for the doctor says she is dying anyway, but she did not die. She went to sleep the first sleep for a week, and the next morning she passed two worms, red in color, six inches long. The doctor came to see if she was dead, but he ran out pretty quick, as she was sitting in her chair eating a bowl of oatmeal and milk. That was twenty-four years ago, and now she has a baby girl of her own, seven months old, who is also using Dr. True's Elixir." (Name on request.)

Constipation, headaches, tired feeling, weakness, spots before the eyes, bad breath, sleeplessness, irritability, dizziness, and many other ailments, can be relieved, if you take the prescription known as Dr. True's Elixir. The Family Laxative and Worm Expeller. It has done much for sick people, men, women and children, ever since 1851—over 68 years reputation.

WIFE OF IGNATIUS LINCOLN EMPLOYED IN DOMESTIC SERVICE IN LONDON HOTEL
LONDON, May 27.—Mrs. Lincoln, wife of Ignatius Tibbits Lincoln, the former German spy deported from England and press censor during the recent Kapp revolt, is now employed in domestic service in a quiet hotel not far from London, says the Daily Sketch. She once had a big establishment of her own. Lincoln, the paper says, has written to his wife asking her to go to Germany, but she adheres to her decision to remain in this country and bring up her children as British subjects.

Dizzy

If you get up in the morning feeling dizzy and weak, it usually indicates a sluggish liver, or poor digestion. Aside from its unpleasantness, this condition may become dangerous; it should be checked before your vitality becomes impaired, and you are then less able to withstand disease.

A teaspoonful of "L.F." Atwood's Medicine will stimulate the action of your digestive organs, and re-establish normal conditions. Taken regularly it will quickly restore your vitality, and you will sleep soundly and awake refreshed, and clear-headed. Powders and tablets containing Acetanilid or other coal-tar derivatives tend to weaken the heart's action. The true "L.F." simply sets natural methods in action and benefits the entire system. If you have never used it send for a bottle now. Your druggist sells it for 50c a bottle, 60 teaspoonful doses. The "L.F." Medicine Co., Portland Maine.

NO SPELLING BOOKS IN PHILADELPHIA SCHOOLS

PHILADELPHIA, May 27.—Philadelphia public schools have no spelling books.

And spelling books have been dropped, says local educators, because they start with "cat" and "rat," and include similar words seldom used in correspondence and business.

Until a spelling book has been compiled that uses the words that are most frequently used in business and private correspondence, Louis Nussbaum, associate superintendent of public schools, announces that public schools here will compile their own lists of words.

The spelling vocabulary taught an average public school pupil is 2500 words. This is five hundred more than was found in an investigation of words in 100,000 business and personal letters.

CUBANS HOLD SUGAR FOR HIGHER PRICES

NEW YORK, May 27.—A prediction that the price of sugar would soar to 27 or 28 cents a pound within 48 hours was made yesterday by Raymond M. Wilson, sugar broker, testifying before the Lusk committee investigating alleged profiteering in sugar and other commodities.

This statement followed the disclosure by George Henry Finlay, another witness, that more than a quarter of a billion dollars have been loaned by American banks to concerns in Cuba to enable them to hold sugar.

Mr. Finlay testified that about 650,000 tons of sugar were being held in Cuban ports.

For 40 years I have been prescribing Marshroot for kidney and bladder sickness and now that I have retired from active practice I have made arrangements with leading druggists to dispense this wonderful prescription at a moderate price.

Beware of kidney disease—thousands die of it every year who ought to be enjoying the blessings of life and health.
If you have specks floating before the eyes, puffs under eyes, clammy feet or moist palms, backache or sideache you ought to get a bottle of Dr. Carey's Marshroot right away.

It has conquered thousands of cases of kidney and bladder diseases and the medicine you can always depend upon.

IMPORTANT—Dr. Daniel G. Carey has been a practicing physician for many years and his great prescription "Marshroot" has cured thousands of sufferers from kidney and bladder troubles. It is not a patent medicine and is only sold through drug stores in order to accommodate his patients.

ARGENTINA, UNABLE TO BORROW OUTSIDE, TO RESORT TO DO- MESTIC LOAN

BUENOS AIRES, May 26.—Argentina government having failed to obtain a loan in Europe or the United States a proposed loan to enable it to consolidate its floating debt of about $340,000,000, it now plans to resort to a domestic loan for the purpose, it is reported. President Irigoyen, it is said, intends to bring the matter before congress shortly and ask authorization to issue the bonds. Newspaper comment upon the idea is generally favorable; it being pointed out that there is no other recourse.

While the flotation of such a large internal loan will be unprecedented in Argentina, the growing wealth of the country is cited as propitious for its success. It is pointed out, moreover, that subscriptions in Argentina to the Italian loan reached $140,000,000.

During the last century the famous Yalu river of China has changed its course more than a score of times.

THE LOWELL SUN

The announcement of another advance in the price of sugar brings a smile to the faces of holders of refining company stock if not to those of the consumers.

The New York Sun thinks that Governor Calvin Coolidge stands a good chance of getting a dark horse nomination at Chicago. Wonder if Dana's dictum, "If you see it in The Sun it's so," is still true?

Only two weeks more and the "tumult and the shouting" will have begun at Chicago, while away from the madding crowd, behind closed doors, party rulers will be getting ready to decide who shall receive the nomination of the republican national convention.

How some of the presidential candidates, near candidates and favorite sons must envy the untroubled days of Hon. Thomas R. Marshall, vice president of the United States, who has unequivocally announced, "I do not seek the nomination for president."

The arrest of two sugar refinery heads on charges of profiteering in sugar cannot be taken to even imply that the men taken into custody are guilty, but it is a not unwelcome indication that the complaints against existing price conditions have become sufficiently acute to stir federal officials to take such action.

If the bill before congress that proposes to impose a fine of $10,000 upon counties in which lynchings take place becomes a law it ought to accomplish something toward ridding the country of a standing disgrace—providing of course it is strictly and impartially enforced. But infuriated mobs do not think of fines to be paid by the counties.

According to the census returns the city of Cambridge has failed to show as high a percentage of increase in population as that of Lowell. The new count for Cambridge is 109,456, an increase of 4617 or 4 per cent. Evidently the university city is not attracting new industries to any great extent. We have merely 3041 over Cambridge which does not offer any ground for boasting.

It would seem that the Harvard students who started a race riot at Memorial hall, because they objected to a negro waiter, might well be taken across the Charles river into what used to be called "abolition Boston" and there given a chance to look upon numerous monuments and read the accompanying inscriptions that honor sons of Massachusetts such as Garrison, Webster, Sumner and Andrew. It was the latter who said: "I know not what record of sin may await me in another world, but I do know this, that I have never been so wicked as to despise a man because he was poor, because he was ignorant, or because of the color of his skin."

AUTO SPEEDSTERS

In the city of Lawrence the other day a man was sentenced to two years in jail for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. In Haverhill on the same day, eight violators of the automobile laws were fined ten dollars each. Here in Lowell Judge Enright is dealing severely with the speedsters who endanger life on the public highways by disregarding the laws against fast driving. If the police and the courts continue thus to enforce the automobile laws quite strictly, we may soon have greater security upon the public highways.

CITY LIBRARY NEEDS

Of the importance of our city library to the present and future welfare of Lowell it ought not to be necessary to argue. It should be the centre, the very heart, of an educational system that should embrace not only the pupils in the public schools, but the whole body of the people that are capable of profiting from its resources.

The crying need of the library doubtless is for funds to buy more books—more up-to-date books that will keep the contents of the shelves fully abreast with the latest literary developments of the day. There is need of more fiction of the better class for good fiction has its educational value, and its reading may lead on to a desire for more substantial material. The greatest need, perhaps, is for a much larger collection of volumes that deal with technical subjects, sociology, finances and the historical developments of our own day and time.

WASHINGTON PARK

What was said by a reverend gentleman before the municipal council this week in favor of purchasing Washington park for a public playground was unquestionably true. These public playgrounds and athletic fields serve well the purposes of Americanizing the children of alien parents. It would indeed be a matter to be seriously regretted if the opportunity to acquire Washington park were allowed to go by default for the lack of funds or any other cause. That park is in the center of a congested district, and it will be more serviceable in the years to come than at the present time. There can be no valid argument urged against the purchase of this very desirable site, although a lease may hold it for the present.

THE OIL SUPPLY

It appears now that the price of oil is likely to advance still more during the coming summer as a result of the cost of production and the greater demand due to the ever increasing use of oil instead of coal for manufacturing purposes as well as for propelling ships and automobiles. The indications are, that the consumption for 1920 will total 495,000,000 barrels of crude oil, whereas, in 1918 the entire oil output of the world was 514,600,000 barrels. It is estimated that the American consumption this year, will be 65,000,000 barrels greater than that of last year. It is true that American production has increased, perhaps 46 per cent and that the deficiency has been met by oil imported from Mexico. It is likely, also, that the United States will have to rely mainly upon Mexico to make up the deficiency in its oil requirements for the present year. If trouble continues in Mexico the production of oil in that region may be restricted or curtailed. It is further alleged that England is securing control of every purchasable oil field in the world with a view to dominating this new source of motive power.

SCOURGING IRELAND

The military regime now in force in Ireland is worse than that which Germany maintained in Belgium during the war. Bullets and bayonets are the arguments with which the demand for freedom and justice is met. England is paying dearly for Carsonism and her punishment will be extended over many years. The Irish people have shown great patience in the face of all the infamy heaped upon them at the instigation of Carson. Practically every house in the land has been ransacked over and over again in search of arms and proofs of activity against the government.

The military leaders have announced that they will use all the resources of the empire to crush the movement for "secession." Ireland can't succeed for the reason that she never joined the British union, never accepted the rule of the British invader. The edict of the government authorities against Ireland's demand for freedom is practically the same as that issued against the American colonies—to "use all the powers that God and Nature have placed in our hands."

While England pursues that policy, surely the Irish people are justified in using every power left in their hands if that be only a box of matches with which to apply the torch to the camps of the enemy. There is no denying the fact that Ireland is now in open rebellion against British authority which is maintained only by the same military forces and equipment with which England opposed Germany in the world war.

PICTURING THE PAST

Lowell and Chelmsford are to conduct imposing open air pageants in which early events in the history of the two places, and of events connected with the landing of the Pilgrims, will be pictured. The pageant is an old enough institution in other parts of the world, but in this country it has only recently begun to come into its own as a form of entertainment that is both enjoyable and informing.

The two pageants ought to open a wide vista for the imagination of those who witness them and, especially in the case of younger people, lead to an effort to obtain a more complete knowledge about the events that they see recreated anew by the scenes that are placed before them.

For instance the pageant in this city is to be given near the spot where John Eliot preached to the Indians who were once the sole occupants and owners of the land on which Lowell now stands.

How many young people in our public schools know very much about John Eliot, or of his labors that took him into the wilderness to teach the aborigines, and of the later results of these labors in making easier the way travelled by the white invaders of the land?

The pageants should, and doubtless will, prove a spur to a desire on the part of many of those who witness them to learn more about the great characters of the past.

CURTAILING OUTPUT

Curtailment in the cotton mills of southern New England may mean little or it may mean much. It is the result of disturbed market conditions. In the past the demands for increased wages were granted and the increased cost of manufacture was passed on to the consumer. Now, however, there is a revolt against the top-notch prices and the dealers can no longer dispose of clothing at the prices that prevailed some months ago. Cancellation of orders as a result of the downward trend in prices, shortage of raw material and lack of shipping facilities, appear to be the causes assigned for the curtailment; but there are probably ulterior causes which are not likely to be given out by the manufacturers. Apparently the manufacturers would not consider it a great calamity if they were obliged to shut down for a period.

It is to be hoped that nothing will occur to offer any pretext for a shut down in the textile mills. Strikes are in progress in some cities. The time is not favorable to strikes either in textile factories or elsewhere. In the first place, the present rate of production is unequal to the demand and in addition, the cost of living is so high that nobody can afford to be idle. The tide of high prices is now obviously on the turn and the mills pause while adjusting their operations to the new conditions.

KEEPING UP PRICES

For many months the cry has been going out to the laboring men of the country to work harder and produce more. They have in many cases responded nobly to the appeal, but they cannot be blamed over much if they feel that they should not be the only ones to hear the demand for greater production after reading some testimony of Edward A. Brand, secretary of the Tanners' council of the United States, given before a senate investigating committee.

According to Mr. Brand, the "big five" packers control about 60 per cent of the hide and leather supply of the country. They have, he says, lately reduced their output with a resulting tendency to hold up prices.

Reports from various parts of the country indicate that the packers are not the only ones who are concerned in carrying out plans for keeping goods out of the market in order that the profits from present abnormal prices may be retained as long as possible.

The officials of the Federal Reserve bank have had to warn subordinate banks against the continued extracting of what they call "frozen loans" that are used to finance operations in the necessities of life that are held in storage instead of being allowed to flow to the people through natural channels.

Self-interest alone would seem to be sufficient to induce the men highest up in the business world to refrain from any course of action that would have a tendency to aggravate the social unrest which has been brought about, partly at least, by the constant hoarding of prices and the common belief that such prices are not wholly necessary.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

The Man About Town wonders what has become of the old-fashioned barber shop. It has joined the ranks of the late lamented and is gradually disappearing. It is with something of a foreboding that one realizes that it has gone. A good many of us remember the old places for shaves and hair cuts. They had their rows of racks. Allied with china or porcelain shaving cups, each one bearing a number or the fancifully designed monogram of initials of the

Wicked Sheep

Just Like a Woman

A shriek! A splash!

People ran frantically along the pier toward where a lady waved her hands to the skies and waited that her sister had fallen into the sea. But the occasion usually produces the man. A gallant hero threw off his coat and kicked his feet clear of shoes; then he dived boldly into the waves. Swimming toward the spot where the victim of the accident had sunk, he caught her as she rose, gasping, to the surface.

"Don't struggle, madam," he said, calmly; "we are quite safe. The sea is quite calm and as clear as a mirror."

"Well, let me go for a minute," said the lady faintly. "I want to see if my hair is coming down."

Dying Poet

On a certain grave-stone in England is inscribed this epitaph:

What I spent I had;
What I saved I lost;
What I gave I have.

Therein is summed up the whole philosophy of the uses of wealth. The man had spent some of his fortune and had lost some of it, but at death he considered himself well off because there still remained to his credit that part of his estate that he had given away. "What I gave I have."

Only the other day another New York philanthropist announced his intention of dying poor by spending all his wealth for good works. Yet, though he stripped himself of his last penny, such a man does not die poor.

By putting it to good use he increases the worth of his fortune. He converts dollars into social values.

And, though in the end he be as poor as Lazarus, he is richer in the genuine treasure of spiritual satisfaction and contentment far beyond the dreams of those who pile up dollars without end and never find riches.

"What he gave he has."

There is another epitaph in point. It is carved on the tombstone of a schoolmaster who "died without fortune, but was rich in the treasures of work well done."

I strain my old deaf ears till it aches to hear the birds cry an' to watch the ships sail by.

The white road stretches down, farm by farm an' town by town.

If I could follow far enough I know O, to hear the birds cry an' to watch the ships sail by.

Just to sniff the old salt smell how happy I would be!

—Edna Valentine Trappell, in Contemporary Verse.

In the old days the regular customer of a place was not contented to have his face lathered with a pebbled brush used in a cup that was used to shave all customers alike. He wanted equipment belonging to himself alone for this sort of work. Many of the customers, too, owned their own hair brushes, combs and bottles of toilet preparations for application to the face. By the way, what has become of bay rum that was once about the only thing used in barber shops for taking off the last vestiges of soap after shaving? It disappeared largely before the 15th amendment came into existence, and, therefore, prohibition cannot be blamed for its passing. There used to be an abundance of pink sporting journals in the barber shops of other days, but these also have almost completely disappeared. And the talkative barber, too—he has been supplanted by a race that, as a rule, has very little to say.

PRACTICAL AND ARTISTIC AS WELL

BY CORA MOORE
New York's Fashion Authority

NEW YORK, May 27.—Fashion is much concerned this year with combining the practical with the artistic, and illustrated is one excellent example of the way she contrives to bring this about. It is a coat dress of prune-colored duvetyne, adopted from one of Julia Marlowe's private wardrobe. The coat about the waist fits smoothly with the slight fullness there is at the waist gathered into a belt, and the front fastened straight up to the chin. The skirt is similarly gathered to the belt and banded half way down with a simulated hem that is machine-stitched after a narrow fold of black patent kid has been inserted as a heading. The skirt is comparatively full, the sleeves are long and finished with one variety of the new "flap" cuffs.

and said the companies this year increased their profits more than 300 per cent over last year.

In addition to the regular attorneys of the woolen companies, Mr. Wood has engaged Charles E. Hughes as counsel.

The first count in the indictment charges the company with the sale on January 7, 1920, of 79 yards of cloth, which cost $2.25 a yard for $3.67 1/2 a yard.

Another count alleges that a piece of cloth which cost $1.62 a yard was sold on January 12, 1920 for $3.37 a yard. Other counts charge similar transactions.

The indictment followed an investigation by the department of justice made at the request of President Wood, of the company, according to a statement last night by Herbert C. Smyth, special assistant to the United States district attorney.

Mr. Smyth said the investigation showed the American Woolen company controls 21 per cent of the output of woolen cloth in the country and that its prices are followed virtually by the entire trade.

Pres. Wood's April Statement

Pres. Wood in a statement made in Boston April 23 declared:

"There is absolutely no just ground for the suggestion that the company has charged excessive price for its cloth or has gained an unreasonable or excessive profit."

His statement was issued in explanation of the company's annual financial statement for 1919 which showed a net profit of $15,513,415, less reserves for taxes and contingencies.

The American Woolen company, Mr. Smyth said, is the largest manufacturer of woolen cloth in the United States and to a large extent dominates the trade.

"The department therefore feels that it has unearthed one of the most important cases of profiteering known since the amendment to the Lever act went into effect," he said.

"Most Astonishing Condition"

The investigation disclosed "a most astounding condition of affairs with regard to these companies and their president," he added.

The cost plus system of fixing prices apparently was adopted by the company for the first time this year, according to Mr. Smyth. Profits increased on an average of 300 per cent, as a result he asserted.

"In view of this increase," Mr. Smyth said, "and notwithstanding that the manufacturing and selling companies are subjected to an expense on account of the same man being president of both companies of nearly $1,000,000 compensation for commission and salaries, the 1920 statement should prove a most interesting document of the companies are permitted to carry on this campaign of profiteering which they so boldly started out to inaugurate at the beginning of this year."

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

SLEEKER TELLS HOW IT IS

The twins were about to cut off Sleeker Swallow's tail at his request when Rubadub, the fairyman, intervened.

"Wait a moment," said he. "How far can you fly without stopping, Sleeker?"

"I dig my tail feathers in, too. That holds me up fine!"

"And if you had loose clothes on when you fly, the wind would get inside and hold you back, wouldn't it?" urged Rubadub.

Sleeker nodded reluctantly.

"Well, then, as far as I can see, you're dressed all right," decided Rubadub.

"HOW FAR CAN YOU FLY WITHOUT STOPPING, SLEEKER?"

"Hundreds of miles," answered Sleeker proudly. "Only I could fly further still if I hadn't these tight clothes on, and this long-tailed coat!"

"Hm!" said Rubadub. "Hm! Just so! Do you ever rest?"

"Oh, yes," admitted Sleeker. "But I don't stop. I just spread my wings out farther and the air gets under them and under my tail and holds me up. I rest nicely as I soar."

"Now about your tail! How do you stick into cliffs and chimneys when they're straight up and down, as you say you do?"

"Well," admitted Sleeker uneasily, but truthfully, "I dig in my claws, and" adub. "Perhaps you don't like your books, but that's foolish. None of us can help that. Besides I think under your picture in the Bird-Book you're marked, 'Handsome.' That ought to satisfy you."

"All right!" agreed Sleeker grudgingly. "I'll try it another year. I'll be off now to the Land-Where-Spring-Is-Coming. If the dandelions are out, people will be expecting me. Besides, the blossoms will bring out all the bees and I do love the bees!"

Sleeker didn't explain what he meant by that exactly, but Rubadub, looking up the cupboard before closing Scrub-Up-Land for the season, winked at the twins with a queer little grin.

JUDGE SUSTAINS PART OF LEVER ACT

INDIANAPOLIS, May 27.—United States District Judge A. B. Anderson in the federal court late yesterday overruled the demurrer filed by Charles Evans Hughes to the finding of the court yesterday morning, which sustained five of the counts in the indictment charging 125 coal miners and operators with conspiracy to violate the Lever act.

Pleas of not guilty were entered by the attorneys for the defendants with five exceptions, and Nov. 8 was the day set for trial. Defendants in Illinois, Ohio and Missouri have brought proceedings to resist, being brought into court here. Only defendants residing in Pennsylvania and Indiana were in court yesterday.

The indictment against the bituminous miners and operators was an outgrowth of the recent bituminous strike and originally contained 18 counts, based on the Lever act and the criminal code.

Judge Anderson, yesterday, however, acting on a motion made May 7 by Mr. Hughes, chief counsel for the United Mine Workers of America, quashed 13 of the counts in the indictment, and at the same time declared three sections of the Lever act—Sections 1, 26 and amended Section 4—to be unconstitutional. Five counts in the indictment, based on Section 9 of the

THE MEANEST VANDAL OF THEM ALL

Vandalism is still being committed in local cemeteries, despite the efforts made by the police last summer to end it, and many reports have been received of flowers being stolen from graves.

The motive behind the theft of flowers is not clearly evident to the cemetery authorities unless it be that of pure mischief. The flowers cannot be readily resold nor is the tinzel used about the stems or wreath-bases valuable unless a large quantity is secured. However, the flowers are being stolen and the cemetery authorities hope that some action will be taken to put a stop to this form of annoyance. The police have been notified.

LOWELL GAINS 1000 POLLS IN YEAR

There has been a gain of about 1000 polls in Lowell in the past year, according to the local assessors. At the present time there are 31,000 polls here. Following out their rule of the past in computing the city's population, that is, multiplying the number of polls by four to gain the total number of people in the city, the assessors find this year that there are 124,000 people here. However, the official federal census gives the city less than 112,000.

IRISH CASTLE BURNED

One of Ireland's Ancient Landmarks Destroyed—Incendiarism Rampant

DUBLIN, May 27.—The destruction of property in Ireland by fire is continuing. Wednesday evening, Kilbrittain castle, near Bandon, County Cork, one of Ireland's ancient landmarks, was destroyed. It is estimated that the damage was 100,000 pounds sterling. The castle was unoccupied. Reports do not state the cause of the fire.

Damage of 40,000 pounds sterling was caused by fire on the farm of Maj. Pollock at Gaven, Hullymore. The members of the family escaped with difficulty. Several valuable horses were burned. The police and military helped extinguish the flames. Reports of the fire received here allege that villagers who watched the fire would not assist in putting it out.

Other reports of fires received yesterday include news of an attempt to burn the court house at Waterville, County Kerry. The police saved the building, but valuable records were destroyed. The court house at Cloyne, County Cork, was burned.

One hundred men attacked the police barracks at Longs Forge, Galway, Wednesday but were beaten off.

The coroner's inquest has been receiving attention from the campaign. The members of a jury who sat in an inquest on two policemen who were killed received notice informing them that they "had been tried and found guilty of treason," and must bear the consequences.

BOSTON MAN HAD MEMORY LAPSE

William Michael McCarthy, who was found wandering about in the Middlesex street depot on Tuesday evening, suffering from loss of memory and speech and who was taken to the police station for care by Officer Cornelius Sullivan has been identified as a Boston school teacher. Through the efforts of Chief Carey of the navy recruiting station and the naval headquarters in Boston it was found that his address was 25 Sudan street, Dorchester. His sister arrived at the police station late yesterday and both were accompanied to their home by Officer Lister.

His sister stated yesterday that her brother accompanied her to a theatre on Tuesday evening and when they were returning home she missed her gloves and left him to look for them. Returning in a few minutes she found no trace of her brother, nor had the family heard anything more of him until notified by the Lowell police.

His condition was somewhat improved yesterday just before he left for his home as he could speak in disconnected sentences and was able to recognize his sister. The identification of the man was facilitated because a local newspaper man recognized him as a former naval reservist. By following up that clue his address was found.

Corrects Anemia and Nervousness

Pale, sallow, languid, weak-blooded people need not envy the bright eyes and elastic step of robust, healthy men and women. Nervousness, indigestion, heart palpitation, weakness, and insomnia, which are symptoms of anemia, will disappear in a few weeks if victims of this blood will only profit by the experience of Mr. F. A. Prescott, of No. 16 Dunlap street, Brunswick, Me.

"I had an attack of malaria," says Mr. Prescott, "and this was followed by bronchitis, leaving me badly run down in health. My nerves were shattered. I was completely exhausted at night but could not get to sleep. My nerves became so weak that I would tremble all over and if I did succeed in getting to sleep I would roll and the sleep did me no good. I was so weak I could barely walk and my stomach caused me great distress."

"I read of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in a newspaper and resolved to try them. I could see an improvement after one week's treatment. I slept better and felt rested in the morning. I continued taking the remedy and gradually regained control of my nerves. My stomach has improved, my appetite is keen and my strength has returned. I have received more real benefit from Dr. Williams' Pink Pills than any other remedy I ever took."

Police station for care by Officer Cornelius Sullivan has been identified as a Boston school teacher. Through the efforts of Chief Carey of the navy recruiting station and the naval headquarters in Boston it was found that his address was 25 Sudan street, Dorchester. His sister arrived at the police station late yesterday and both were accompanied to their home by Officer Lister.

His sister stated yesterday that her brother accompanied her to a theatre on Tuesday evening and when they were returning home she missed her gloves and left him to look for them. Returning in a few minutes she found no trace of her brother, nor had the family heard anything more of him until notified by the Lowell police.

His condition was somewhat improved yesterday just before he left for his home as he could speak in disconnected sentences and was able to recognize his sister. The identification of the man was facilitated because a local newspaper man recognized him as a former naval reservist. By following up that clue his address was found.

MEETING AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

In the First Baptist church last evening the annual meeting of the Men of the Round Table was held with William W. Russell as the presiding officer. The meeting opened with congregational singing, followed with songs by Warren Reid and piano selections by Miss Harriet Mansur.

Church organization and the part that men could take in its upbuilding was discussed by Rev. Edward Babcock, pastor of the First Baptist church. Relating examples of the activity of the men in other parishes over which he has served, he said that if the men of the First Baptist got down to good hard work they could double the membership of the church and churches. During the evening the date for the annual outing was set as June 17. Before the meeting the men were the guests of the Ladies' Benevolent society when supper was served under the direction of Mrs. James Fleming, president.

WORDS OF PRAISE

Tribute to Lowell Man in K. of C. War Report

A high tribute to Commissioner John F. Salmon, former Knights of Columbus overseas secretary, is paid in a chapter of "The Knights of Columbus in Peace and War," the official account of the order's activities in the world war, which has just been published.

Secretary Philip J. Breen of the local council has just received copies of the two volumes comprising the work. It was written and compiled by Maurice Francis Egan and John B. Kennedy, both of whom were actively identified with the work of the order during the war and before. They have collected their facts from official records and from the reports of secretaries not only of councils in all parts of the country but from the men who like Commissioner Salmon, Hon. John T. Sparks and John W. Daly of this city went overseas as K. of C. secretaries. The tribute to Commissioner Salmon is contained in the section devoted to the work of the overseas secretaries and includes an account of one experience which the commissioner had. In part the tribute is as follows:

"... Secretary John Salmon achieved a reputation with the 83th Division for his acumen in selecting men from the ranks of different companies and combining them into troupes of entertainers during the rest periods behind the lines."

"At Filley on one occasion following a vicious little engagement with enemy outposts, Salmon saw 15 men out of a group of 36 go to their death in a sudden enemy barrage."

"No prisoners were taken on either side," he reports. The dead were piled up like cordwood. I found one poor fellow by the name of Melton in a serious condition, bleeding profusely from a wound in his side. I sent two men in search of a litter while I tried to stop the bleeding, but they were gone so long that I was afraid Melton would die before they returned. A soldier assisted me and we tried to carry him, but the men bled so badly that we had to give it up. I ran into some neighboring woods after help. I ran across some pillboxes and they directed me to a French canteen. There I bought three bottles of champagne for 30 francs and begged a blanket. The champagne restored the wounded man. Going back to the lines was a proud moment for me. When the boys saw us bearing the litter they gave us three rousing cheers which must have reached the enemy lines."

"Salmon was a prisoner in the work of aiding to bury the dead and, like many other Knights of Columbus, he saw that a chaplain was secured to say mass over the fallen men and that they were buried with what military honors could be given. He and Secretaries William Murray and Hugh Moore buried hundreds of dead Americans and even Germans while with the 5th Coast Artillery at Genes."

"He was one of the Knights of Columbus who encountered German propaganda at first hand."

The roll of honor of all the Knights of Columbus from the various councils of the country who served in the war includes the names of 192 men from Lowell council, No. 12. In addition to this number now in the volume, Secretary Breen says that 100 more have been reported and that when final reports are in from members who have recently joined the order it is probable that there will be a representation of 300 veterans.

"The Knights of Columbus in Peace and War" goes back to the pre-war days of the order and shows the various activities in which the knights were engaged before the great conflict. Their part in the war, both as active participants and in assisting the fighters with every comfort, is reviewed in detail and appended to the work is a detailed account of how every cent contributed to the order's war work fund was spent.

There is also an outline of the order's reconstruction activities, its employment bureau, campaign against Bolshevism, etc. The photos of the first member of the American Expeditionary forces and the last to fall in the great conflict, both of whom were Knights of Columbus, are published with the work.

Lieut. William T. Fitzsimmons of Kansas City, Mo., council, died in December, 1917, the first member of the American troops to fall, while Lieut. William M. Davis of Holyoke council, who served as a chaplain was the last member of the American forces to die in the war. He fell at 8:45 o'clock on the morning of Nov. 11, 1918, the day the armistice was signed.

LAWRENCE BOUTS

Change in Card—Valger and Welling Withdraw

LAWRENCE, May 27.—All that is needed to make the big all-star boxing show here next Saturday afternoon one of the greatest pugilistic events in the east is good weather. The card is one of the best ever arranged, the Cuddy arena, where the show will be staged, is one of the largest and most conveniently located in the country, and the big demand for tickets indicates that the attendance will reach record proportions.

No classier are the six performers scheduled to appear in the three 12-round events that it is difficult to name the feature number, Johnny Dundee, one of the most satisfactory lightweights in the country, a boxer who has won the title of champion, Benny Leonard on a number of occasions, will appear against Jack Lawlor, a recent sensation, who has a record of 12 wins and 10 losses. Harry "Kid" Brown of Philadelphia and Freddy Jacks, the featherweight champion of England, will exchange blows in another while Mel Coogan and Ted Moran, a prominent pair of fighters, with records a mile long will perform in the other big bout.

Benny Valger and Joe Welling, who were on the original card have withdrawn because of injuries. Tommy Early and Kid Francis, local boys, will open the show with a six round preliminary at 2:30 o'clock.

HEWSON AND LINDSEY LEAD IN BOWLING

High scores continue to be put up in the big handicap tournament at the Crescent alleys. Dr. Hewson and Lindsey have taken the top position in the two-man competition with a score of 331. Dr. Hewson is the high man in the combination with a total of 381. He actually rolled 363, but the 13-pin handicap awarded him by the tournament officials gave him the lead. Marshall and McNulty are second in the two-man competition with 300. Willie McElmott and McGuade, 644, and O'Brien and Bates, 610, come next in order. Competition in the one, three and five men rolling has not changed materially since Tuesday night.

SHAMROCK IV. LAUNCHED

NEW YORK, May 27.—Workmen on the Shamrock, Lepson's cup challenger, Shamrock IV, launched her tonight. She was today preparing to step her hollow wooden mast. This spar is said to be much heavier and stronger than the Shamrock's which snapped in a race last week.

One of the novelties of the Shamrock is a Swedish speedometer made in the form of a tube running through the hull of the craft to the water, where the pressure of the water at the end of the tube registers the speed. This will enable her to have her try-outs for speed before the arrival of her trial mate, the 23-meter Shamrock.

MATHREWS VS. WEST ENDS

On Monday afternoon the Mathews and West Ends will meet on the common and an exciting contest should result. There is much rivalry between these two teams and a purse of $50 has been agreed upon to add interest to the game. Manager Tully of the Mathews and Manager Gannon of the West Ends will meet Friday night at the Sun office to arrange the details of the game and put their respective shares of the purse in the hands of the Sun sporting editor.

FANS ANTICIPATE BIG HOLIDAY GAME

Final plans and arrangements for the big game to be played on Monday afternoon, May 31, between the South Ends and Knights of Columbus will be discussed tonight, when Managers Foye and Lyons meet at the Sun office to meet lineups and decide upon an umpire.

Often times last year fans expressed the regret that the Knights and South Ends could not hook up for a series to decide the city championship after the former had established prestige by defeating all comers. The South Ends had no team in the field at that time, however, and the battle had to be postponed until this year. Not only will the holiday game bring two keen teams into opposition, but it also will be the first big semi-pro game of the season and as such should attract a banner crowd.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The West Ends and Bellevues will clash Saturday afternoon on the South common, with Mulino and Gannon the battery for the former club. As it took 10 innings to settle the last battle between these clubs, a repetition of fast ball is looked for.

BUSY PROGRAM FOR BOY SCOUTS

The following program pertaining to Boy Scout activities has been issued from the office of the scoutmaster:

Saturday, May 28.—2, gala day at Washington park, Middlesex street.
 Monday, May 31.—Memorial day parade. Assemble at headquarters at 3 p. m.
 Friday, June 4.—7:30, second class indoor examinations.
 Saturday, June 12.—1:30, second class outdoor examinations.
 Friday, June 18.—7:30, first class indoor examinations.
 Saturday, June 19.—Supper hike. Leave headquarters at 7 or be at Robertson's farm (next beyond end of Andover street car line) at 4. Games, contests and camp fire.

The plan for gala day this year is new as a general event, though two troops have had a similar troop event in the past. It is therefore an experiment and requires the interest and co-operation of everybody to make it successful.

If it is successful it will be worth doing on a larger scale next year when all will better understand how to go about it. We believe without question that it will be a success as a first trial.

Two things are being accomplished which are big steps. One is the active planning of the event by a committee representing the scout masters themselves. The second is the active co-operation of a committee of the council with this former committee.

The more the men who lead the boys directly and the men who direct the work as a whole get together, the better it will be for scouting. Each group will better appreciate that the other group is composed of fine fellows with as fine a spirit as can be found anywhere; of men who are devoting a large part of their spare time, and even some that is spared only at a sacrifice, for the benefit of others, both through scouting and in other ways.

Fifty scouts in uniform are wanted to assist at the pageant on June 3 in keeping the aisles clear, etc. Of course this means scouts in neat uniforms. We will ask for volunteers at once.

Two buglers are also wanted to take part in the pageant. A rehearsal will be held at 5 o'clock on Thursday, May 27, which they will be expected to attend.

It is becoming more and more the custom in the scout field generally for troops to go to the council camps in a body rather than as individuals. We hope that some of the troops will take up the idea here. We can arrange so that they can be together in many respects as if in separate camps, and at the same time have the advantage of the general camp.

FIND BODY OF TEWKSBURY FARMER

The body of Cyril Walter Parsons, a well known farmer of West Tewksbury, was found hanging from a beam in the stable he formerly owned in the village yesterday afternoon, the cause of death being suicide, according to Acting Medical Examiner Alling. Mr. Parsons, who had not been feeling well for some time, sold his farm in West Tewksbury to Karl Heitenreich and went to live with the Seaver family, a short distance from his former home. The man was dependent because of illness, but his actions did not arouse suspicion. Tuesday morning he visited Mr. Heitenreich's garage and rented a space for his automobile. He was not seen again and yesterday a search was started for him with the result that one of the neighbors found him hanging to a beam in Mr. Heitenreich's barn. In one of his pockets was found a bottle containing strychnia. Deceased is survived by a wife and several children living in this city.

RETAIL GROCERS WILL REDUCE PRICES

(Special to The Sun.)
 STATE HOUSE, Boston, May 27.—Practically all of the retail grocers who have been making excessive profits have agreed to reduce their prices to the level recommended by the commission on the necessities of life. It was announced by that commission today.

During the past week the commission has received back nearly all of the 7000 questionnaires it sent out recently to retail grocers in the state. These are now being examined by a special force of clerks and up to the present no flagrant cases of profiteering have been found.

"There is absolutely no foundation," a representative of the commission said today, "for the many rumors which are being circulated to the effect that many grocers and other retail dealers in large numbers have been fined for profiteering. This department has imposed no such fines and it has no authority to do so. And so far as we know the same is true of the department of justice."

The commission has found that offending grocers invariably reduce their prices to the proper level as soon as their attention is called to the excessiveness of their prices. Most of the overcharging is found to be due to ignorance of the Lever act and of the margins of profit allowed on commodities which are considered necessities of life.

The commission takes the attitude

BAR TALKING MACHINES Move to Forbid Use of Autos is Defeated

LOGANSPOUT, Ind., May 27.—A ban on the use of or presence in the homes of their members of all talking machines, phonographs and graphophones, was voted at the annual conference of the Old Order Branch of the Brethren church which came to a close last night after a five days' session on a farm, 12 miles east of here. The proposal to have talking machines in the homes caused considerable discussion and for a time threatened to carry, but was voted down by a narrow majority.

Some of the more conservative members sought to obtain action forbidding the use of the automobile, calling it a "devil" machine, but the opposition was greatly in the minority.

NEW POLICY IN PENSION SYSTEM

(Special to The Sun.)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, May 27.—The state began an entirely new policy in the administration of its pension system when in the house the members went on record as being in favor of a bill permitting pensions to war veterans only when the recipients can prove they actually need them.

The measure would place on half pay all public employees veterans of the German and Spanish American wars who have served for at least ten years and who being incapacitated at that time can show that their total income from all sources, exclusive of the retirement allowance, does not exceed $500.

The bill was supported by Rep. Geo. Pearl Webster of Haverhill, a veteran of the Spanish-American war, who declared its enactment is necessary not merely for the benefit of the service men but for the people as a whole as well.

"For years," he said, "the residents of the state have been paying millions of dollars for the support of public employees on their retirement. I do not doubt but that a large proportion of this money has been expended in a worthy purpose. On the other hand, a substantial portion of it has gone to persons who have not needed a penny of the gratuity."

"These for years were in the enjoyment of comfortable positions at salaries which up to but a short time ago were earned by large numbers of our citizens. During the time in which they were employed they accumulated sufficient to keep them in comfort for the rest of their days. Yet when they retired they were given pensions, coming from the thousands of persons who could ill afford to stand this burden."

"For several generations this has been going on. With the increase in the public business the number of persons who were eligible to the pensions grew. No one up to now has proposed any plan under which it would be possible to differentiate between those employees who needed a pension and those who do not. I believe the bill under consideration is one which will provide this needed change."

Mr. Webster brought about the passage of the bill, after it had been unfavorably reported by the house ways and means committee. HOYT.

The atmosphere is said to be so dry in certain sections of Argentina that a large bowl of water left uncovered in the morning is dry at night.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS' EXTENSION WORK

The organization of the Camp Fire Girls has reached its eighth birthday. For eight years its program has grown and developed and has proven itself to be a most adaptable program for adolescent girls. The membership of the organization has been constantly increasing, until now there are over 135,000 Camp Fire Girls. In every state, on every continent, in 16 foreign countries, there are Camp Fire Girls living up to the program of give service.

What is there in this program for girls' activities which so appeals to all types of girls all over the world?

The basis of the Camp Fire organization is the home.

The corner-stone of the structure of Camp Fire is the home. The ceremonial costume, which is modeled on the plan of the Indian girl's dress has led to the general idea that the Camp Fire Girls represent tribes of Indians and do nothing but camp out of doors. To believe this is as absurd as to believe that the Greek letter societies in colleges represent Greek cities and that the members do nothing but follow Greek pastimes, such as blacking boots, or that the Masonic orders do nothing but build walls, or that the Knights of Columbus are organized to discover new worlds.

The world will indeed be many years older before the home will cease to be the responsibility of the women. The tasks in all homes everywhere fall upon the girls and women of those homes. These tasks of making the home should be kept from becoming chores, and this, Camp Fire does for its girls. The work of the home, if it be only the washing of dishes or the making of beds, is dignified and made interesting by being made worthy of recognition and praise when it is done well. The system of awarding honor beads for doing these tasks will not only keep them from becoming hum-drum and sordid, but it also clothes them in romance and stimulates new interest in what would otherwise be dull and uninteresting. There is a list of 700 honors in the Camp Fire Girls Manual, 200 of which pertain to work in or about the home.

There is no girl in any community to whom many of the things in the list cannot apply.

The watchword of the Camp Fire Girls is Wohelo—a word made from the first two letters of the three words, work, health and love—and their slogan is "Give Service." These twofold aims are most vital in the life of every Camp Fire Girl. Thousands of Camp Fire Girls are sending money to support orphans in France and Belgium; thousands of them are helping in the support of babies in this country—this they call "adopting" babies; nor do they limit their service to the most spectacular things. Letters are constantly being received which tell of Camp Fire Girls going into the hospitals and reading to the children in the wards or of carrying flowers and dainties to the older invalids in their towns, or of taking children to the parks; 24,000 of them released their mothers from important work in connection with food conservation campaigns by caring for the younger children during the last year of the war; 65,474 Camp Fire Girls practiced rigorous food conservation themselves during the war. Long before we entered the war, the Camp Fire Girls organized themselves into Minute Girls with a definite program of economy, service and health; 55,528 carried out this program to the letter not an easy program either. Their reconstruction program has been endorsed by President Wilson.

To organize a Camp Fire group, two very important things are necessary: First, to find a proper person for guardian; and, second, to have the group of at least six congenial girls. When these things are done, the rest is easy. Upon request an application blank and literature on organization will be sent to you from national headquarters, 31 East 17th street, New York city.

Up to the present time, the organization of the Camp Fire Girls has been self-supporting. The dues of its members have paid for the expenses of running the big organization. With the increase in expenses, the income of the organization is not big enough to provide any budget for extension. Thousands of requests are being received at national headquarters from groups of girls who want to organize as Camp Fire Girls, but who can find no one to act as guardian. We need money to send out field organizers who will find and train leaders. We need district executives who will visit each group, carry on training courses for the benefit of the guardians, and help the guardians and the girls. It is for this extension work that the Camp Fire Girls are appealing to their relatives and friends to take associate and sustaining memberships in their organizations. The war record of the Camp Fire Girls shows that these girls answered all the calls to help. It is the turn of their parents, their relatives, their friends to help the girlhood of America now.

Buyers Flocking to New York To Bid on Ex-Kaiser's Furniture

NEW YORK—A lot of the former Kaiser's furniture is ready to be sold here at auction and buyers are being attracted from all over the country. Miss Mary Morsell of Milwaukee, Wis., is shown examining the ex-Kaiser's stein of carved ivory. The carving portrays the birth of Venus from the sea. This treasure was taken from Wilhelm's Bavarian chateau as payment for debts after he had fled to Holland. The mahogany and bronze commode (above), the candle-sticks and the clock are from the Berlin palace; the busts from the royal castle in Munich. On the left, one of the red velvet hangings from the throne room of the Berlin castle, adorned with the old Imperial eagle. The sale will be held by a European dealer May 32, in the Anderson galleries.

WALSH WANTS PROBE OF PROFITTEERS

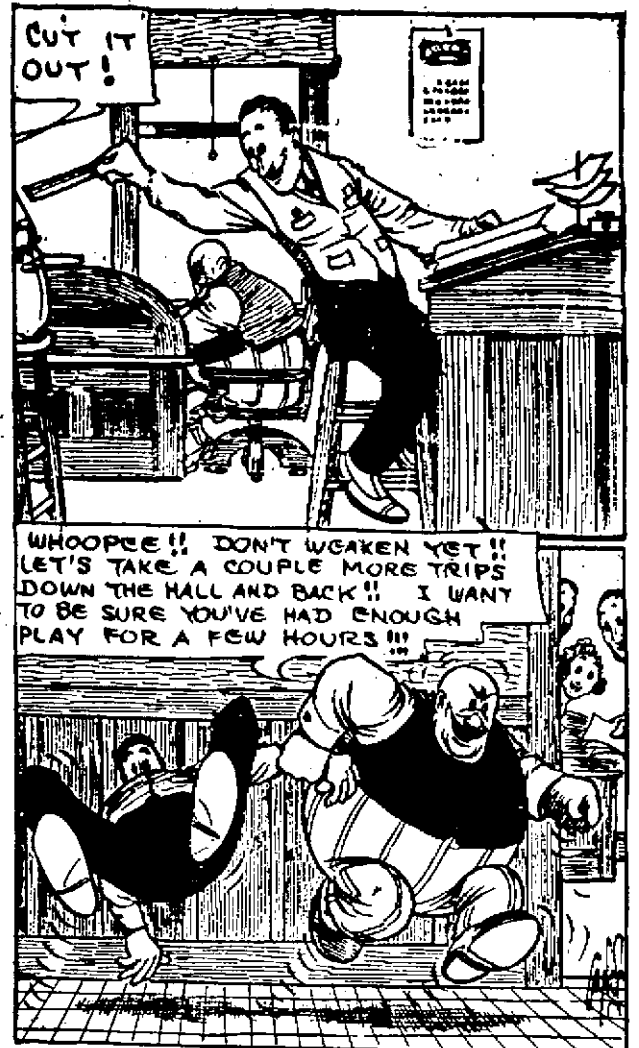

(Special to The Sun)

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 27.—Senator Walsh is not at all perturbed over the denial of charges of profiteering by the bituminous coal people. He said today, "If the figures I quoted in my speech are correct then the guilty parties should be prosecuted; if they are not correct, then they should be exonerated. The way to ascertain the truth is by the investigation for which I asked last week, when I filed a resolution authorizing the president to appoint five senators for that purpose."

The coal interests through Vice President Morrow of the National Coal association refused the statements and figures which Mr. Walsh quoted from the report of former Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, saying they were incorrect and misleading and that the McAdoo report was "notoriously unfair," although they acquiesced Mr. Walsh of any desire beyond aiding in suppressing profiteering.

Immediately after the receipt of the letter from Mr. Morrow, Senator Walsh urged the senate to take early action on his resolution and it was put before the proper committee, who will report it out at an early date. Senator Walsh has taken the foremost stand in the senate against the high cost of living, profiteering and excess dividends made through war profits. He has been fearless in this stand, and won the praise of men on both sides of the chamber by his eloquent and exhaustive summary of the situation. He will now insist that some investigation be made which will result in bringing about a reform.

DAN O'LEARY VISITS LOWELL

Dan O'Leary, noted pedestrian and the dean of all distance walkers, was in Lowell yesterday renewing acquaintances with his many admirers here who recall his sensational walking feats of the '70's and '80's.

Mr. O'Leary will be 70 years old next month but age has failed to make any marked inroads on his vitality or endurance. Only last July he walked 100 miles in 23 hours and 43 minutes in Cuba park, Chicago. On his birthday next month he plans to walk 100 miles within 24 hours just to show that he can.

O'Leary has a series of notable victories stored away in the record books of his career. He was the first man to walk 500 miles in six days' time. He has defeated Edward Jayson Weston, much touted American champion, and has also won victories over the best of the English walkers.

When he was 66 years old O'Leary performed the unusual feat of walking 1000 miles in 1000 hours at Cincinnati. This stunt meant that he could not leave the track for more than 45 or 50 minutes at a time for nearly 42 days. One of the stipulations was that he should not walk more than a mile in any one hour. In view of his age, this stunt of O'Leary's was considered a remarkable exhibition of endurance, and won the attention of medical experts all over the country.

Mr. O'Leary's chief purpose in coming to Lowell will be to discuss a business deal with his old friend, Humphrey O'Sullivan.

The United States has about 23,000,000 dairy cows.

UNCLES TIE KNOTS FOR THREE BROTHERS AND A SISTER IN QUADRUPLE WEDDING CEREMONY

MARIA STEIN, O.—A unique wedding ceremony, probably the only quadruple marriage ever performed in Ohio, was recently celebrated in St. John's church, when three brothers and a sister were married on the same day, at the same hour, in the same church, with the same service by two of their uncles. Miss Ottilie Goltus became Mrs. Alois Garman, Mary Garman became Mrs. Theodore Lochtelfeld, Frances Voskuhl became Mrs. August Garman and Bernardine Schroeder became Mrs. Edward Garman. Rev. Frank Garman of Ravenna, Tex., and Rev. Bernard Garman of Murdock, Kas., tied the knots in the big ceremony. Each bridal couple had their own wedding cake.

Mrs. Mershon Found Speedy Relief After 18 Years' Suffering

PALMER ANSWERS QUESTIONNAIRE

Opposes Government Ownership of R. R. but Favors Control of "Necessaries"

Would Eliminate Excess Profits Taxes for Higher Taxes on Incomes

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Opposition to government ownership of railroads, endorsement of federal control of manufacture and distribution of "necessary commodities," and elimination of excess profits taxes in favor of higher taxes on incomes from investments characterized the reply today of Attorney General Palmer to the recent questionnaire submitted to presidential candidates and others by the national board of farm organizations.

"The right of free speech," Mr. Palmer said, "must be carefully guarded and preserved."

"I would have men preach as radical doctrine as they will," he continued, "so long as they strive to make that doctrine effective by peaceful methods. But the right of free speech is not the right of unbridled speech without responsibility."

Stating his views as to "direct dealing between producer and consumer," Mr. Palmer said: "I believe that the time has come when, in the interests of the producer on the farm and the consumer in the centers of population, there should be government regulation of the exchanges dealing in foodstuffs and in securities of corporations whose business has to do with commodities which are known as necessities."

As to the railroads, Mr. Palmer said: "Private ownership and management under strict government supervision, with facilities for the prompt adjustment of all disputes arising out of demands of employees, shippers or the public, will give the best transportation service to the country."

LAWRENCE MEN ENLIST HERE

Chief Carey, of the local navy recruiting station, sent one man to Boston late yesterday afternoon. He was Paul Gillespie, of 417 Essex street, Lawrence, and he went down as an apprentice seaman for a musician.

Because there is no recruiting station in Lawrence all men signed for the navy are enlisted by the Lowell office. Such matters are facilitated considerably by the aid given by Chief Demers' auto, for he makes frequent trips to the down river city to canvass for recruits or to visit prospective seamen. Though Chief Demers owns the auto he is allowed a certain amount each month by the government for gasoline and repairs.

LOCAL ASSESSORS FINISH WITH CORPORATION PROPERTY AND THE ASSESSING OF POLLS

The local assessors have completed their tabulations of corporation property and within a short time will begin work on fixing valuations of property in general. While it has not been definitely decided, there is a possibility that there will be an increased valuation this year.

The assessing of polls has also been completed and a large staff of clerks is now on work getting data ready for the city treasurer so that he may prepare and send out tax bills.

JAMAICA GINGER CASE IN POLICE COURT

Harry Cohen, of Arlington street, Chelsea, who was arrested yesterday on Dutton street, for the illegal keeping of liquor, was granted a continuance in police court this morning until next Tuesday. Cohen was in charge of a large truck belonging to the Paul Revere Wholesale Grocery company of Boston which he was driving to the various small stores in this city to sell his cargo of Jamaica ginger. The truck was loaded with about one hundred gallons of the liquor in 6450 bottles which was transferred to the cellar of the grocery company. A representative of the police station and requested that the case be continued. The defendant was released on bail.

The charges of larceny from the person and assault and battery made against John Morowski were put over until next Thursday.

The charge preferred against Louis Verid, proprietor of a local taxi company, for violation of the automobile laws, was continued until tomorrow. Information to be obtained from the highway commission meantime. The complaint against Verid states that he unlawfully used the license plates belonging to a Packard car upon a Pierce Arrow, and that the latter car was not properly registered. The defendant claims that he received permission from the highway commission to use the plates in question.

The police arrested a young man by the name of Nicholson at the Community Service club late yesterday on suspicion. The arresting officer thought he recognized the man as an escaped convict from state prison in Charlestown and that he had made a big catch. In court this morning, although Supt. Welch found that he had a record for past offenses, Nicholson was released with the warning that if he were found wandering about this city he would be arrested as a vagabond. There was no charge against the young man other than suspicion.

NO TRACE OF ESCAPED CONVICT TRIO

BOSTON, May 27.—With every police official in New England searching for them, with orders to take them, dead or alive, and with the powerful machinery of the Boston police department and Massachusetts district police running at top speed in effort to effect their capture, there is not a trace of Herman L. Barney, Harry Manster and Charles Ward, the desperate convict trio that escaped from Charlestown state prison about midnight Tuesday. Their escape from prison—one of the most sensational and best planned in penal annals—has been followed by a perfect getaway.

Despite their long association in the underworld, and the fact they were hunted by police on other occasions, they have succeeded not only in getting away, but in completely covering their trail.

QUARRYMEN VOTE 5 TO 1 TO ACCEPT AGREEMENT

BARRE, Vt., May 27.—Balloting on the supplementary agreement to the so-called "Montpelier agreement" of Sept. 19, 1919, in the various branches of the Quarry Workers' International union ceased at 10 o'clock today and from nearly complete returns received at the office of Secretary-Treasurer F. W. Sutter's office here the agreement was accepted nearly five to one. There are only a few small branches to report the result of which could not affect the vote materially. Mr. Sutter sent a telegram this noon to C. Harry Rogers of Rockport, Mass., chairman of the national committee of granite industries, telling him of the result.

The Montpelier agreement runs to April 1, 1923. The supplementary agreement provides a sliding wage scale with increases from 14c to 21c per hour, according to the employment. The first increase begins May 10, the second July 13, and the third September 1, this year. After Sept. 1 quarrymen will be receiving from 85c to 90c per hour for their labor. The new agreement is the result of a conference held in Montpelier, May 10.

The statements made through the press by noted financial authorities—newspaper editors, some big manufacturers, bankers and others that prices dropped because the bankers had told the merchants their credit had reached the limit—that they should empty their shelves and turn the money back to the banks is without doubt true in most instances where there has been a reduction in prices—but these statements do not fit with the Merrimack Clothing Company's sale of

Clothes at Cost

Plus Expense of Selling

This campaign was launched four weeks ago by Humphrey O'Sullivan solely to break the high cost of wearing apparel for men, women and boys. Was it a success? Well we will let the thousands of people who came here and carried away the bargains answer that.

As proof of our sincerity to break the high cost of clothes we publish below a letter from our bankers as to our position.

LOWELL TRUST COMPANY

265 Central Street
Lowell, Mass.

Lowell, Mass., May 24, 1920

To whom it may concern:

This is to certify that as depositing bank for the Merrimack Clothing Company, we hold no indebtedness against this company and further state that on the above date said Merrimack Clothing Company had on deposit at our bank several thousand dollars to their credit.

Very truly yours,
GEO. M. HARRIGAN,
President.

This condition places the Merrimack Clothing Co. in a position to take advantage of the present break in prices in the wholesale markets by being able to buy merchandise for cash—which is today badly needed by some manufacturers to meet their bank's demands.

Merchants who are averse to reducing the price of clothes are not coming down, but instead will be much higher. They may be right. We're not prophets and therefore are not making predictions as to the future. What we do know is that we are selling fine clothes at reduced prices now and intend to continue doing so while we long as even though it does annoy our competitors a bit.

We are taking advantage of any break in the wholesale prices and passing the plus to you. It is to you at what they cost us plus the expense of selling. When we say expense of selling let us impress upon you the fact that our expense of selling is lower than in any similar store we know of in New England. First, on account of being located in a low rent district; second, by using small advertising space, not buying one, two or three pages every week; and finally by being in a position to make large cash payments with our own money instead of having to pay banks large sums for interest. All these things considered, isn't it to your advantage to link up with the Merrimack in their earnest efforts to break high prices? Remember the greater our volume of business the less you pay for the goods.

On account of the limited space we are using to reduce the expense of selling we will have to omit printing prices this week—but the low prices are here on the goods waiting for you and we'll say you'll not regret making a visit here Friday during the day or evening or sometime Saturday. If you are in need of a man's suit, shirt, hat, underwear or collar or a suit for the boy or a lady's suit, coat, dress or skirt—they all show big reductions.

Our easy fitting (Flopkins) Straw Hats for men are ready.

We are open Friday Nights till 9:30 for your accommodation.

Peace Resolution Vetoed

Republican Presidential Candidates Open Final Drive to Capture 493 Votes and Victory at Convention

President Declares Such a Method of Making Peace Would Place Stain Upon Gallantry and Honor of the United States

WILSON'S REQUEST FOR MANDATE REFUSED

SENDS VETO TO CONGRESS

President's Message Vetoing Republican Peace Resolution Sent Today

Wilson's Request for American Mandate Over Armenia Disapproved

Only Four Democrats Opposed Adverse Action on President's Proposal

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The republican peace resolution was vetoed today by President Wilson.

Such a method of making peace with Germany, the president said, would "place an ineffaceable stain upon the gallantry and honor of the United States."

The president added that the peace resolution omitted mention of "many important objects, for the vindication of which the United States entered the war."

Without announcing his intention regarding the treaty of Versailles, the president declared that the treaty embodied the important things omitted by the resolution and said that by rejecting the treaty the United States had declared, in effect, that "it wished to draw apart and pursue objects and interests of our own."

"Such a peace with Germany," the message continued, "a peace in which none of the essential interests which we had at heart when we entered the war is safeguarded—is or ought to be."

Pilgrim Commandery, Knights Templars, in Full Regalia, Leaves For Its Annual Conclave at Providence

MEMBERS OF PILGRIM COMMANDERY, KNIGHTS-TEMPLARS, PREPARING TO DEPART FOR PROVIDENCE

Upwards of 400 members of Pilgrim Commandery, Knights Templars, paraded through the city streets almost before their fellow townsmen were fully awake this morning, and boarded a special train of 11 coaches at the Middlesex street depot at 8 o'clock for Providence to participate in the 11th annual convocation of Knights Templars of Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

With Emiliant Sir Donald M. Cameron at the head of the line, the Templars formed in Merrimack street, outside of Masonic temple, shortly after 7 o'clock. The column moved at 7:30 and passed through Merrimack, Central and Middlesex streets to the station.
Every knight was in full dress regalia, wearing plumed hats and carrying swords of their rank and although it was distinctly hot in the morning, many people paused on their way downtown to watch them pass.

Preceding the main column was a detail of police in charge of Sergt. Peter McManmon. The United States Carriage Co. band, which will escort the Lowell knights in the conclave parade, played brick marching tunes as the men swung along. The parade was a gay and splendid one and well worthy of thronged sidewalks and thousands of spectators instead of the scattering hundreds who were fortunate enough to witness it. The knights were in two divisions, the first commanded by Sir Knight H. Hutchins
Parker and the second by Sir Knight
Frank W. Dobson.

The general committee in charge of the local arrangements was composed of Emiliant Sir Donald M. Cameron and Sir Knights Perry D. Thompson and Benjamin W. Clements. The parade committee consisted of Sir Knights
H. Hutchins Parker, Frank W. Dobson and Hammond Barnes.

The Lowell men plan to make the return trip this evening, arriving in the city at about 7 o'clock.

DIVORCE CASES IN SUPERIOR COURT

In the superior court before Judge
Jabez Fox this morning arguments were completed in the case of Louis Price vs. Sarah Price. The suit is one for divorce on the ground of desertion in which counsel for the libellee claimed that the desertion had not been continuous for three years within the meaning of the statute, because of the confinement of the libellee in a hospital during part of the time by reason of insanity. The case was continued to permit counsel to produce certain records.

In the case of Fannie Ball vs. Frank
D. Hall, for divorce on the ground of desertion, a decree nisi was granted, with the custody of three older children given to the libellee and that of a younger child to the libellant.

Urgent Appeal

Opportunity for High School
Young Men to Make Va-

An urgent appeal addressed to Head Master Henry H. Harris of the high school, has been received from Stephen R. Dow, supervisor of the state department of agriculture, stressing the need of young men on farms throughout the state this summer if a critical food shortage next winter is to be averted.

The appeal is made to all high school young men between the ages of 16 and 20 years, and offers unusual opportunities for vacation-time work at pay ranging from $2 to $4 per day, including board and lodging. A system of farm camps has been inaugurated, to which high school boys may go and learn the rudiments of market gardening under well regulated supervision.

The appeal lays emphasis upon the fact that for the past three years high

PRES. W. M. WOOD IS INDICTED

14 Charges of Profiteering in Cloth Brought by Federal Grand Jury

NEW YORK, May 27.—William M.
Wood, president of the American Woolen company, of New York and of the American Woolen company, of Massachusetts will face arraignment before Fed. Judge Hand tomorrow, on indictments charging profiteering in woolen cloth.

A federal grand jury yesterday indicted Mr. Wood and both companies on 14 counts. Herbert C. Smyth, special assistant United States attorney general in charge of the prosecution, declared Mr. Wood was receiving
"enormous salaries" from the concerns, in addition to commissions which, in 1919 amounted to $315,132. This, Mr.
Smyth said, was charged as part of the manufacturing and selling expense.

Profits Increased 300 Per Cent.

Mr. Smyth asserted the company was receiving 35 per cent. profit above cost.

TISSUE BUILDING

Tissue is the doctor's name for body cells.

It is to our bodies what coal is to an engine.

Every day we burn up a certain amount of tissue.

Therefore new tissue must be built to take the place of the lost fuel.
The food we eat makes this new tissue and in a healthy person gives enough fuel to replace the loss.

People get thin and "run down" because they do not get enough nourishment from their food to supply the needed fuel.

When the weakened system does not do its duty you must have a "tissue builder." Father John's Medicine is a real tissue builder because it actually makes new flesh and tissue.

When you take Father John's Medicine, the actual food elements of which it is composed give you new strength, and enable the organs of the body to resume their work.

Father John's Medicine soothes and heals throat and is best for colds, bronchitis, asthma.

People gain weight steadily while taking it.

Remember, Father John's Medicine contains no alcohol or dangerous drugs. It has a history of more than half a century of success.

CONDITIONS IN KOREA

Revolt Proves Anew Japan Will Not Voluntarily Grant Korean Independence

PHILADELPHIA, May 27.—American missionaries in Korea, despite the hardships and dangers incident to reconstruction following the quelling of the Japanese of the recent uprising, are planning to "Christianize every district in the country," according to the annual report of the Presbyterian board of foreign missions to the Presbyterian general assembly, made public recently.

Referring to the revolt, the report says: "The result proved anew that Japan will not voluntarily grant Korean independence; that the Koreans cannot secure it by force and that other governments, having long ago recognized Japanese annexation of the peninsula, will not interfere. Costly, was the movement to the Japanese, for it reinforced their critics, disheartened their friends, alienated the sympathy of allied nations and brought upon the ruthless militarists the opprobrious name of 'the Huns of the Orient.'"

Regarding the attitude of the American missionaries toward the Koreans' revolt against the Japanese, the report quotes Bishop Herbert Welch of the Methodist Episcopal church of Korea as saying: "It is no evidence of unkindness to the Japanese people that the missionaries became alienated in sympathy from the Japanese government but only a testimony to the deep humanity of their feelings and an indignation against wrong-doing which was worthy of all praise."

"There is a general disposition to give the new administration in Korea a fair chance to remedy the undoubted abuses that exist," continues the report. "Americans," it says, "should distinguish between the civil and military parties among the Japanese. The former is composed of enlightened and progressive men, who feel as we do about the outrages that have been committed in Korea. The latter includes a large number of men who are thoroughly Prussian in their temper and conduct."

"Americans should bear in mind that there is a considerable element among the Japanese themselves who are greatly disturbed by the stern and non-handed policy of the military party in dealing with the Koreans and who favor a wise and humane policy in dealing with them. It would be not only unwise but unjust to make indiscriminate condemnation of the whole Japanese nation."

Declaring that "China is in a state of chaos," the board says "it has been gratifying to read the reassuring statements of several eminent Japanese as to the intentions of their government," adding, however, that "some thing more than words, however sincere, is required to remove misgiving and distrust."

Greedy and selfishness, democracy and militarism, it says, are struggling for the mastery. During the past year, the report says, Chinese churches connected with the Presbyterian, Congregational, United Brethren and London Missions, have formed one organic Christian body. All other evangelical denominations have been invited to join.

Presbyterian foreign missionaries increased in 1919 from 1364 to 1423, and the native workers from 6306 to 6856. In order to meet the high cost of living, which in some fields like Japan, has increased over 200 per cent, the living allowances for the Presbyterian missionaries have been increased from the former standard of $1250 a year to $1500.

New methods of dealing with sedition is declared to have made mission activities in India more difficult, "all non-British subjects desiring to engage in philanthropic, educational, medical or missionary work being required to obtain a license." This was modified for the missionaries provided they declared due obedience and respect to the government and carefully abstained from political affairs. Reinforcements are called for "to check the growing power of Mohammedanism" in West Africa.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER
A miscellaneous shower was tendered Miss Mae Steele last evening at the home of Miss Mary Doherty, 230 Grand street, by the girls of the W. H. Bagshaw company in honor of her approaching marriage to Mr. Leo J. Healy. Games were played and the following musical program was carried out. Piano selections by Misses Belle Walsh, N. Lemke, Rita McDonough and Catherine Shea. Solos by B. Mungovan, Mae McGee, Anna Finnerty, Helen O'Neill and Molly Peterson. The feature of the evening was an exhibition dance by the Misses Margaret O'Dea and Nellie Galvin. The bride-to-be received many beautiful gifts including cut glass, silver and linen. The party broke up at a late hour, wishing Miss Steele much happiness in her married life. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

SOLDIERS KILLED WITH HATCHETS

Turkish Nationalist Leader
Discusses Atrocities in Condemning Peace Treaty

Expresses Unalterable Opposition to Terms Allies Have Submitted to Turkey

ANGORA, Asia Minor, May 17.—(By Associated Press)—Unalterable opposition to the treaty of peace the allies have submitted to Turkey, was expressed here today by Mustapha Kemal Pasha, leader of the Turkish nationalist forces. He was asked by the correspondent for a statement relative to the treaty, and replied that the "well-known opportunity to speak on the situation."

"The allied powers, led by Great Britain, condemned Turkey to death," he declared, "and began to apply their decision by the very direct material manifestation known to the world. The Turkish nation naturally has declined to accept such a sentence. Our Caliph and sultan, the Turkish parliament and the Turkish government, the members of which were legal representatives of the Turkish nation, were unable to resist such a verdict and fell into the hands of the British by the sudden occupation of Stamboul."

"The Turkish nation, left without a head or government in such a mortal crisis, took the responsibility for its own life into its own hands and created a people's government composed of its own representatives in Angora, calling it the great national assembly and endowing it with legal executive powers. This assembly has chosen its executive department from the assembly itself under the presidency of the chairman of that body, Djellaladdin Arif Bey."

After commending by Ansevor Pasha, the former Circassian bandit, who is now supporting the sultan's government enter villages and begin pillaging, calling themselves nationalists in order to discredit the real nationalist movement. In some places where they call themselves the emissaries of the Caliph and allies of the British, they are taking action openly against the Angora government. They associate themselves with Armenians and Greeks in order to cause disturbances. They entered Bull and in conjunction with Armenians, killed a small detachment of Turkish soldiers and officers with hatchets."

MRS. SPRECKLES HONORED BY FRANCE

PARIS, May 26.—Mrs. Adolph Spreckles of San Francisco was guest of honor at a unique reception given here today by the French government in the salon of the grand palais. Many of the most prominent artists in France were present. The reception was arranged for the purpose of expressing to Mrs. Spreckles the appreciation of France and her artists of plans for the construction of Alta plaza, overlooking the Golden Gate, of a replica of the Palace of the Legion of Honor, as a lasting memorial to French and American soldiers. The building will be used as a museum and will cost several million dollars.

9 SUSPECTED SMALLPOX CASES IN BOSTON

BOSTON, May 27.—The development of nine suspected smallpox cases in this city, all traceable to a patient admitted recently at the Boston City Hospital, was reported today by Health Commissioner Woodward. In all the cases the disease has taken a slight form. Patients afflicted with it have been transferred from the hospital, and several wards placed under quarantine.

Dr. Woodward said that while the number of cases was unusual here, it was insignificant when compared with the weekly reports from many western cities. As a measure of precaution and not because of any real danger, Dr. Woodward explained, the graduation of a class of nurses at the hospital, set for tomorrow, has been postponed.

THIS BABY LION
IS COUNTESS' PET

LONDON, May 27.—"Smother" at all to see Countess de Salvetera walking down the streets of London with her pet lion under her arms. The wild baby became too cumbersome for the management of the Savoy hotel and it now resides at the zoo except when out for a stroll.

WOMEN OF THE ORIENT TO ATTEND CONGRESS

BASEL, May 27.—Among the women of the Orient who will be delegates to the congress of the International Woman Suffrage alliance to be held here soon, will be representatives of women's organizations in India, Egypt, Japan and Palestine. Miss Tcheng Yu Siou of Canton will be the Chinese delegate.

Steady progress toward suffrage is being made in Palestine, where the Women's Equal Rights association has branches in Jerusalem, Jaffa, Haifa and Tiberias. Members of these branches are, for the most part, Jewish women and Dr. Rosa Strauss, president of the parent association, reports that Arab women, who for ages have been mere beasts of burden are "taking courage" and striving to improve their condition. Dr. Strauss asserts that "many an Arab wife is refusing to put up with the treatment which for centuries custom has decreed for the woman of that race."

CHINA REJECTS JAPAN'S OFFER

TOKIO, May 25.—(By Associated Press)—China's reply rejecting Japan's offer to open negotiations relative to the future status of Shantung has been received at the foreign office here. It says China is ready to supply guards for the railroad to displace Japanese engaged in that service, and declares that country considers the railroad a distinct and separate question from that of the province.

Japanese officials point out that the withdrawal of Japanese guards was offered conditional upon China's opening general conversations relative to Shantung. It is considered that the reply is a refusal of the Japanese offer and, therefore, it is probable the status quo will be permitted to continue.

Bolsheviki Take Town of Borisov

LONDON, May 27.—The town of Borisov, on the Berezina river at its junction with the Minsk-Smolensk railway line, has been captured by the Bolsheviki in the campaign against the Poles, according to the soviet official statement for Wednesday, received by wireless from Moscow today.

She will pass through the Panama Canal, and will be the first Japanese warship to use that waterway.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The wheat crop of New South Wales has been so disastrously affected by drought that the yield probably will not be sufficient to meet domestic consumption in Australia, said a report today from the American consulate at Sydney. The crop was estimated at only 4,296,000 bushels, the smallest yield in 20 years.

ROCKLAND, Me., May 27.—The Brooks, the first to reach the trial stage of the new group of 20 torpedo boat destroyers which will be the largest in the navy, having a displacement of 1307 tons was given standardization trials here today. She was to make 28 runs over the mile course, including the backing runs at full speed. The destroyer was built by the New York Shipbuilding Co.

To Put an End to Strikes

PARIS, May 27.—Parliament and the government will be asked by the union of French peasants to pass legislation intended to assure freedom of workers and put an end to strikes. Resolutions to this effect were passed here yesterday at a general meeting of the union, delegates representing a membership of 42,380 farmers being in attendance.

I NEVER FELT BETTER THAN I DO THIS MORNING

Mrs. J. E. Benoit, 85 Arlington St., Manchester, N. H., will gladly tell you what wonderful results she has had from Goldine. While talking with Goldine nurse at Holland's Drug Store last Thursday when she came for more medicine, she remarked: "Well, your medicine surely has been a blessing to me. Before I commenced the Goldine treatment, I was the greatest sufferer any woman could be, and live. My head ached all the time. My stomach had swollen almost twice as large as it should be. My hand was all puffed up, also my limbs. That was due to my bad kidneys and bladder. My other ailments cannot well be told here, but I can say right here I am not the same woman I was before I found this wonderful medicine, GOLDINE. No one would have thought there could have been any help for me as I had so many ailments. Now they are all gone. Just think, in less than two months I am a new woman and feel that I have a new lease on my life. There is some pleasure for a woman when she feels as I do. After being sick these many years as I have been, as I am sure there's not another woman who has suffered any more than myself, and had as many ailments at one time, and could find nothing that would give me any relief, until I found that wonderful medicine, GOLDINE, which has been a blessing to me in every way. Why should I not praise and recommend a medicine that has proved such wonderful work; has given the relief that no other medicine would do; has made a new woman of me and I am giving my statement for the good of others who may not know of such a wonderful medicine and of its great value to all suffering women. You can see me anytime and I will gladly tell you more of my case. Just take my advice as a friend. You will never regret it. Go to Holland's Drug Store and get Goldine today. They will tell you of its great work that is being done in Manchester."

Goldine is sold in your city by A. W. Dows (both stores), Carter & Sweeney, P. H. Butler & Co., W. B. Calgan, Jr., Fred Howard, Wm. F. Kierman, R. F. Webster, Frye & Crawford, Frank E. McNabb, Wm. N. Labor Radicals Play to Force Real Third Party

BY FREDERICK M. KERRY
N.E.A. Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 27.—What party and candidate will organized labor support in the coming presidential campaign?

The instructions that are given to labor's national non-partisan campaign committee at the A.F. of L. convention which convenes June 7 at Montreal will determine.

Plan Platform Demands
Not that the convention will endorse any party or candidate. But it will lay down a series of platform demands which a party and presidential candidate must adopt in order to receive the support of organized labor.

The convention hopes for nothing from the republican platform committee. There is, in addition, no republican with any chance of nomination except possibly Hiram Johnson, who has any chance of labor backing. Under certain conditions Johnson might be supported—but only if the democratic party should nominate a reactionary to oppose Johnson.

The important struggle which is to develop at the labor meet will be on the platform demands to be presented to the democratic convention at San Francisco.

Certain delegates want to make these demands so drastic and far-reaching that President Gompers and the labor campaign committee will be unable to "sell" them to the democratic party.

But if Gompers maintains his control of the convention the radicals will not have their way.

Labor men, in closest touch with the situation, believe that the convention will take the recommendations of the executive council of the A.F. of L. and present demands to the San Francisco democratic convention which the democrats can adopt, and that McAdoo will be nominated on a platform reasonably satisfactory to labor.

If neither party satisfies labor on platform—and particularly on candidate—make life a burden instead of a pleasure, and shorten the lives of many.

SEVEN BARKS composed of the extracts of leaves, roots and herbs, has been the most efficient remedy for the quick relief of indigestion and all stomach and liver troubles for nearly half a century.

Acid Stomach is Dangerous

Often Followed by Serious Gastric Ulcers—Stomach Dyspepsia and Indigestion—Keeps Stomach Sweet With Magnesia

Acid stomach is a common and exceedingly dangerous condition which irritates and inflames the delicate stomach lining, and often leads to gastric ulcers, accompanied by dangerous gastric ulcers.

If you suffer after eating from sour stomach, heartburn, gas and painful digestion the trouble probably comes from too much acid and you should by all means make it a practice to keep this dangerous acid neutralized and your stomach sweet and then your meals will digest in a normal way without pain.

More artificial digestive pills won't do this. A better plan is to lay aside all digestive aids and instead neutralize and sweeten the acid in your stomach with a little Bismarck Magnesia.

SEVEN BARKS composed of the extracts of leaves, roots and herbs, has been the most efficient remedy for the quick relief of indigestion and all stomach and liver troubles for nearly half a century.

SEVEN BARKS is a highly concentrated, purely vegetable compound, having a specific action on the stomach, liver and kidneys. It promotes healthy action of the organs of digestion, and eradicates all impurities from the system, enriches the blood, and thus imparts health and tone to every part of the body.

We wish we had the space to publish the testimonials voluntarily given which prove without doubt that SEVEN BARKS possesses curative and strengthening properties not found in many other medicines.

Get at the root of your indigestion and Constipation by driving all poisons and impurities out of your system for good. SEVEN BARKS has been successful in doing this for over half a century. No matter how chronic or hopeless is your case, you can get quick relief by taking this great remedy.

If you want to enjoy life, and have the glow of health, get SEVEN BARKS of your druggist. Costs but 80 cents per bottle.—Adv.

DISORDER IN BOMBAY

12,000 Workers on Great Indian Railway on Strike—

Demand Wage Increase

LONDON, May 27.—Twelve thousand workers on the Great Indian Peninsula railway have struck demanding increased wages, says a Bombay despatch to the Exchange Telegraph company. Yesterday afternoon the men adopted a threatening attitude, stoned workshop windows and disorganized traffic in Bombay, the despatch states, while some entered the principal signal towers and compelled the men employed there to raise or lower signals at their pleasure.

Trains were boarded by the strikers, who smashed windows, snatched passengers and held up traffic for an hour, it is said. When trains resumed running their shutters were closed and they were again stoned. Military detachments were called out, but the strikers had dispersed before the troops arrived.

DOMED BUILDING AS WAR MEMORIAL

OTTAWA, May 27.—Canada's war memorial here may be a domed building constructed so as to present the same aspect from all points of the compass, it was announced today.

A. H. Harkness, architect of the Central Hall, Westminster, has prepared the plans of instructions of the Canadian war memorial committee. The building will be surrounded by terraces and water.

The memorial will contain the Canadian war paintings with opportunity for local artistry, in a series of halls opening into each other. The main feature is to be a symbolic picture 10 feet long and 12 feet high.

SLUMP IN SILK CLOSSES BANKS IN JAPAN

TOKIO, May 25.—(By Associated Press)—The suspension yesterday of the 74th bank of Yokohama, in which Sebei Mogi was the principal shareholder, was followed today by the suspension of the Yokohama savings bank, of which M. Mogi is president.

The 74th bank was heavily interested in transactions in silk, cotton yarn and cotton cloth. The recent slump in raw silk caused heavy demands upon the bank by silk speculators, who were dependent upon the bank for support, and who had been obliged to pay additional margins. The bank of Japan, which had advanced 20,000,000 yen to the 74th bank, ceased to advance funds to the institution, believing that the time for an adjustment had arrived. The directors, it is said, expect to settle by offering their personal property and securing the assistance of other institutions.

The Soda bank, on which a sympathetic run was started after the closing of the 74th bank, received assistance from the Bank of Japan and was not forced to suspend payments. The suspension of the 74th bank, it was expected in commercial quarters, might affect one silk-exporting firm, which had connections with the bank. Jimosuke Inouye, the governor of the Bank of Japan, predicted to the press that it would have no serious effects in other directions.

The official statement of the suspension announced that the bank had been closed for only three weeks, to permit of the examination and adjustment of its affairs.

A conference has been held at representatives of the copper miners, exporters and importers, with a view to the relief of the copper market. It was resolved to restrict production, discontinue importations and discourage the exportation of accumulated material, also to provide funds for purchasing stocks offered at a loss.

LENGTHEN THE LIFE OF YOUR CLOTHES AND HOUSEHOLD LINENS

Soak the dirt out the new way—instead of wearing your clothes out on the washboard

THAT tablecloth you had to throw away just because of a few ugly threadbare spots! Good shirts useless because they were frayed at the cuffs! Towels in holes—heavy bedspreads gone sleazy and thinned out! In these days when clothes and house linens come so high, replacing them mounts to a goodly sum before the year is out.

Yet they might have given you another several months' wear had they been washed the new way.

The harm rubbing on the washboard does

Rubbing on the washboard—do you realize what terrible friction you are applying to the fine vegetable fibres of your cottons and your linens—that you are gradually wearing them out against the hard metal washboard?

Do you wonder that all the badly soiled places that receive especially hard rubbing get worn out?

The new way of washing gently dissolves the dirt in your clothes—soaks it out! Yet there is nothing in Rinso to hurt the fabric—nothing to injure colors. Rinso actually makes your clothes last longer because it saves them from constant rubbing and boiling.

Just soak and rinse

All you need for the new way of washing is just one package of Rinso. No washing powder, no laundry soap, no soda. Soak the clothes overnight (or for three hours) in cold water with Rinso.

In the morning, rinse till the water runs clear.

Only badly soiled spots—cuffs, collars and the like—need a light rubbing between the hands. No washboard rubbing! No boiling, unless you wish to sterilize the clothes once in a while.

At 9 A. M. your clothes are flying on the line—clean and white as when you rubbed and boiled them.

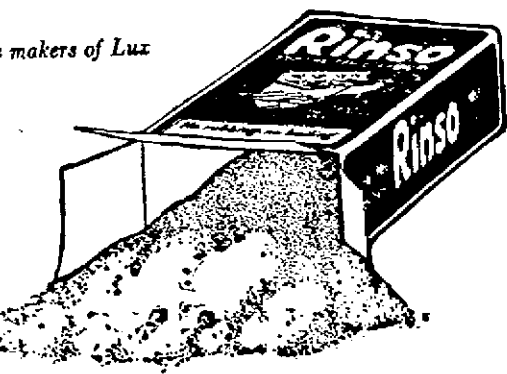

Get Rinso at your grocer's today. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

OPERA HOUSE

A better selection could not have been made for farewell week by the Lowell Players than the amusing and highly entertaining comedy drama, "Peg o' My Heart" which is being so successfully and cleverly presented at the Opera House. It's scoring heavily at all performances. At today's performance a beautiful photo of Miss Fields will be given each woman patron, and on Saturday afternoon there will be a public reception by the entire company. Every one is cordially invited. And don't forget that the Players are particularly anxious to meet the playgoers of the city and suburbs. Saturday night will be good-bye night. Order your tickets in advance or you will be disappointed. Tel. 161. Box office open daily from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m.

THE STRAND

Smiling Tom Moore—and what an irresistible smile he has—will be seen in "Dude," a great mystery story, at The Strand beginning today and for the remainder of the week. William Russell in "Leave It To Me," another of his rollicking, happy and unusually delightful photoplays, will be the other feature on this big two-part program. A story of the post-war effect is the Goldwyn production, "Dude," in which Moore is featured. The Sultana diamond had left a trail of strife and

Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Mr. James H. Allen suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work. He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities of the blood are eliminated. He discovered that uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body. With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments, and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system. He freely gave his discovery to others who took it with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. Dr. J. C. Warner, has been appointed agent for Allen in the vicinity with the understanding that he will freely return the purchase money on the first two boxes to all who state they received no benefit.

wreckage through several generations. When the war ended, the ravaged countries were stripped of everything of value, and smugglers sought to mark the loot in America. The Sultana diamond was among the loot. Captain Allen (Moore) was transferred from the United States service, faces the dreary prospect of civilian clothes and a job. He is not unemployed for long. One evening night he happens to be in a strategic position to aid a beautiful girl, a wealthy jeweler's daughter. Through this adventure he finds a job and his own heart is filled with the thrill of a detective. And what experiences he has. Just see the picture and he is thrilled, as well as thoroughly entertained.

William Russell in "Leave It To Me," is jammed with tense situations and has a pleasing injection of humor that makes it a well-balanced photoplay. The story is set in a town environment and brings into collision extremes of the social set—members of the local "society" and leaders of the underworld. A new comedy and Weekly will also be shown.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
Fifth avenue and the Bowery mingle in the new Thomas H. Ince production, "The Dark Mirror," starting Tuesday. Dorothy Dalton, which is featuring the current program at the Merrimack Square theatre. The story, which is based on Louisa Josephine's popular novel of the same name, concerns a society girl who, through her resemblance to a belle of the underworld becomes involved in a murder mystery and a thrilling series of adventures. The other feature for the week-end is Robert Warwick, the noted dramatic star, in "Thou Art the Man," a powerful story of present day life. The International News, a comedy and the Burton Holmes travel pictures round out the program.

THE OWL THEATRE
Crowded houses continue to be the rule at the Owl theatre, for the fame of the feature picture, "The River's End," the James Oliver Curwood story that has been produced by the master hand of Marshall Neilan, has gone far and wide. One feels that Neilan handled his subject reverently, touch as a Parisian perfume, his perfume, as if it were a breath of heaven. The story of "The River's End," however, is more than a breath. It is a tale of love, of heart, of the souls of men and women laid bare by the hand of an artist. There are only two more days to see it. The remainder of the bill is changed today. Comedyart, a two reel feature crammed full of color and surprise stuff, is something you will want to see; also Harold Lloyd's "The Great Dictator," in his latest comedy, "His Royal Snyness," and an episode of "The Lost City," starring Juanita Hansen. Watch the advertisements for next week's bill.

Lakeview park this year is ready to receive you with every one of its attractions going and the same old combination of musical gloom-killers, Miner-Doyle's and Barney Horan, will be there to smooth your cares away in the eyes of the dance. DEMAND UNINTERRUPTED TRUCKING IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, May 27.—The citizens' transportation committee began today drafting a "declaration of principles" demanding uninterrupted trucking of merchandise from piers and rail terminals, whether or not it originates from union sources or has been previously handled by union men. The declaration will be submitted to all of the trade unions in the city for endorsement.

The committee announced yesterday that a $500,000 fund to organize an independent trucking company, was "in sight." Decision to organize this company resulted from the refusal of truckmen's unions to haul goods to and from piers where striking union longshoremen and clerks have been replaced.

"For five years I have been troubled with my kidneys," writes Bert Dawson, 112 E. Walnut St., Canton, Ill. "If I do heavy work, and that, with being on my feet all day, is a strain on a man's kidneys. My trouble started with severe sharp pains over my back. The medicine I took gave some relief, but the trouble came back. I bought a bottle of Foley's Kidney Pills, and before long my pains had entirely left me. And have not been troubled since." HELD CONVENTION HERE

Association at First Presbyterian Church

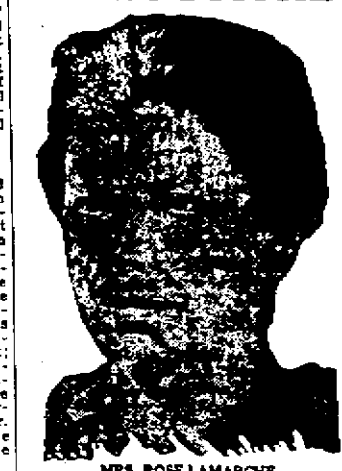

About a hundred men and women were in attendance at the annual convention—the first since 1917—of the Lowell district Sunday School association held in the First Presbyterian church in Appleton street yesterday afternoon and evening. Among those present were a number of the local ministers and representatives of the state organizations.

Both sessions of the convention were presided over by President John Perry. The afternoon meeting was opened by a brief devotional service led by Rev. A. C. Warner. A short time was then given up to the consideration of business matters.

Mrs. Viola V. Morris gave a talk on the subject, "The Important Two—the Teacher and the Child." Mrs. Morris is state superintendent of children's work, and in her talk frequently referred to her experiences in that position.

"The Home Department" was the subject of an address by Miss Katherine C. Bourne, state secretary of home extension work. She told of the

BETTER THAN TWO DOCTORS

MRS. ROSE LAMARCHE

Two years ago I became acquainted with RED PILLS for pale and weak women. I started to take them as directed, and I owe my good health of today to their beneficial qualities. I have had eight children and four premature confinements. After the first years of married life, I became so weakened and in such poor health that I was unable to do my own work, as I had always done in the past. I went to see two doctors, followed their advice, but without results, my health was always the same. I then stopped taking their medicine and put myself solely under the influence of RED PILLS for pale and weak women; fifteen boxes did the work and restored me to good health, which is saying that I owe them more than I can ever repay. My little girl now takes RED PILLS and whenever needed, I will be sure to take them again also.

OPEN LETTER TO

EVERYWOMAN

This letter is written to you not in a personal way at all, but in a general manner, and that is why it is open.

You all know what your weakness is. Many men have found that weakness. It is known to them as "your vanity." That leaves you all open to the worst curse of life—susceptibility to flattery. When a man flatters you it seems to be very nice. But you do not realize the consequence.

Violet Heming was a vain girl. She sought flattery, and each time she gazed into her mirror (and that was many, many times,) she saw herself as most beautiful. Flattery told her she was most beautiful. Now most men play the role of flattery, and Violet Heming played the role of "Everywoman." Her fate was seen by nobody. Even Truth warned her. But she ignored all but flattery. She even refused to listen to Modesty. The result was pitiful indeed. But she can't tell all in this letter. One must see to believe.

The chance to see is coming. At the Merrimack Square Theatre, the Paramount-Artcraft picture "Everywoman" will appear for three days only, starting Monday, May 31.

Sincerely yours,

WALTER J. NELSON.

WOOD APPEARS IN REBUTTAL TESTIMONY

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Rear Admiral Sims, appearing before the senate naval investigating committee today in rebuttal testimony, declared that "the navy department's witnesses" had revealed a condition in the navy even more distressing than I could have imagined and constitutes a much sorer criticism of the deplorable conditions referred to than I myself have submitted."

"A very careful review of the evidence submitted by the navy department's witnesses," said the admiral, "shows that in no single instance were the 13 points raised by me in criticism disproved. On the contrary, most of them were freely admitted. The testimony of the department's witnesses seemed to be designed, not to disprove, but to explain them away or to obscure them by the raising of extraneous issues."

Admiral Sims read from a long prepared statement, quoting from the testimony of Admiral Benson and Rear Admiral Badger, McKean, Fletcher and Nihlack, and Captain Pratt. These witnesses, he said, almost unanimously attributed the conditions to the faulty organization of the navy department and favored reorganization.

Secretary Daniels' testimony, Admiral Sims declared, had been remarkable alike for its mistakes and misinterpretations and for its unrestrained assault upon my services during the war."

"I wish to state very clearly and once and for all, that in all the comments I shall have to make," Admiral Sims said, "I do not desire in the slightest degree to imply that they were intentional or that the secretary was not sincerely convinced of the fairness and correctness of his conclusions."

Admiral Sims said he would make no attempt to answer the "personal reflections and aspersions contained in the testimony of the secretary."

All Delegates Now Chosen

Continued
Large field of "favorite sons" practically precludes any possibility of a nomination on the first ballot. Even the most optimistic campaign managers here are not claiming victory before the third ballot, and the more conservative party leaders predict that the break will not come before the fifth or sixth at the earliest.

Wood-Lowden Contests

One big factor which may upset campaign managers' predictions is yet to be dealt with. One hundred and 45 contests have been or will be held, more than one-seventh of all the seats to the convention being at stake, and the national committee which meets here Monday to decide these contests and prepare the temporary roll, may materially alter the prospects of several candidates.

The principal contests are between supporters of Maj. Gen. Wood and Gov. Frank O. Lowden.

In addition to the 145 contests, 64 surplus delegates, with fractional votes have been chosen from 10 states and the national committee's rules provide that their right to seats shall also be contested. The convention shall decide that no surplus delegates should be seated and no extra seats have been provided.

Division of Delegates

Figures compiled here show the following division of the convention vote: Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, 153; Senator Hiram W. Johnson, 109; Gov. Frank O. Lowden, 74; favorite sons and unattached, 645.

In the favorite son list Senator Warren G. Harding has 29 votes from Ohio; Senator Sutherland 18 from West Virginia; Senator Miles Polk 12 from Kentucky; and Judge Ditchard of North Carolina, 12 votes.

Campaign managers here of the three leading candidates all claim victory. The Wood and Johnson camps make definite predictions as to their first ballot vote, the supporters of the general claiming 355 votes and those of the senator 236. The Lowden forces while professing their confidence are not prepared to quote figures.

Wood Managers Confident

"Leonard Wood," says a statement in France.

from his headquarters, "has no increased his vote in the last week that a first ballot prediction of 355 votes was made today at Wood headquarters here. This is more than the combined instructed vote of all other candidates. On the first ballot he will be a big leader and this total will increase steadily until nomination is assured."

The Johnson headquarters, which is now in charge of Hiram W. Johnson, Jr., the senator's son, announced with equal positiveness that:

"Senator Hiram W. Johnson already has 236 pledged delegates, who will vote for him on the first ballot and will stick with him to the last ditch. His vote on the first ballot will be equal, if not greater, than that of any other candidate, and by the fifth or sixth ballot he will be nominated."

"Going to Win"—Lowden
"We are going to win," said the statement from the Lowden camp. "We have had no time to sum up, and figures therefore are unavailable, but we are going to win, and the situation looks even better than it did last week."

Work on the convention hall is progressing rapidly, and Charles R. Hull, superintendent of the Coliseum, has assured the convention committee that the more than 13,000 seats will be in place 24 hours before the convention is called to order by Chairman Will H. Hays of the national committee.

Extra Balconies Erected

Extra balconies are being erected to provide nearly 1,000 more seats than were available at any previous convention.

The speaker's platform and seats for 2,000 distinguished visitors have already been erected. In the Coliseum annex, offices of the convention committee and officers and the room of the national committee, where the contests will be heard next week, have been in readiness for some time.

National committeemen began arriving early this week and a majority of the 53 members are expected to be on hand by Monday. Chairman Hays will arrive Monday. A. T. Hart of Louisville, chairman of the convention committee on arrangements, arrived yesterday.

School boys have greatly relieved the farm situation and that their services are in even greater demand this year. With the co-operation of parents and school officials, the department of agriculture could place hundreds of boys in good positions that would materially increase food production in the state. Boys would be placed on farms or in farm camps under proper supervision, following the plan carried out by the Massachusetts committee on public safety during the war.

Superintendent Dow points out that the matter would require the appointment of an enrolling officer in each high school to enroll boys of more than 16 years of age. School principals also are asked to name teachers whom they recommend as camp supervisors at a salary of $100 a month, to be paid by the state.

Principal Harris said today that the idea will be given as much prominence as possible throughout the school. Several boys already have approached him on the matter, but in most every case the young man feels that the compensation offered is not equal to that he would be able to get during vacation time in some other line of work.

The department of agriculture is attempting to bring out the patriotic side of the question, saying that young men owe it to their state, their families and themselves to pitch in and pull the commonwealth through this crisis. The department cannot say too much, it seems, about the seriousness of the situation next winter as it now appears.

OPPOSITION TO MANDATE

Sen. Hitchcock, Democratic Treaty Leader, Out Against President's Plan

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Democratic opposition developed yesterday to President Wilson's request to congress for authority to accept a mandate over Armenia.

Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, administration leader in the peace treaty fight, joined republicans opposing the measure and there were indications that other democrats would stand by him. Announcement of Senator Hitchcock's purpose not to support the administration in this instance was made while republican leaders of the house were trying to agree upon the expedient method of disposing of the whole question.

The meeting of the foreign affairs committee, called to obtain the views of Secretary Colby, was postponed because of the secretary's inability to attend, but there were many informal conferences by both parties, at which members expressed strong objection to any proposal which would send American troops to Europe or Asia.

Chairman Porter indicated that the president's message would be considered briefly and then laid on the table, which would end it.

Inasmuch as the senate has failed to ratify the treaty, with its League of Nations covenant, republican members of the house committee declared there were legal objections to the president's proposal. They contended that to accept a mandate would be like doing indirectly what congress had not permitted to be done directly.

The house committee is not expected to meet until Friday but the senate foreign relations committee probably will take up the mandate question today. In the senate, as in the house, the general desire seemed to be to table it, although there was the suggestion that the president might call congress in special session during the summer for its consideration.

The president was asked in a resolution introduced yesterday by Representative Mason, republican, Illinois, for full information as to the cost and number of troops required in connection with his mandate proposal.

WILL PARADE ON MEMORIAL DAY

The British and Canadian War Veterans' association at its regular meeting last evening completed arrangements for its participation in the Memorial day parade next Monday. J. A. McEntee was appointed an aid to the chief marshal and W. Dawson will be in charge of the veterans.

A memorial service will be held at St. John's Episcopal church in Gorham street, next Sunday evening at 4.15 in honor of the British and Canadian veterans who gave up their lives in the world war. Members will attend in civilian clothes.

The association expects a large turnout of members in the parade on Memorial day. The veterans will wear uniforms and those not having uniforms will appear in civilian clothes and white gloves. A special committee has been appointed to decorate the graves of deceased members.

At last evening's meeting the resignation of Lewis Balle, treasurer, was announced owing to business reasons and John Fairburn was elected to fill the vacancy. A vote of thanks was extended Mr. Balle for his services.

The following committee was appointed to consider plans for a mid-summer dance: John Hurst, Joseph Percival, John Fairburn, Frank Hobbs and James Higgs.

AT WILLIAMS COLLEGE

Ceremonies of Historic Interest, June 20—Remains of Founder to be Received

WILLIAMSTOWN, May 27.—Ceremonies of historic interest will be held at Williams college on Sunday, June 20, when there will be received here the remains of Col. Ephraim Williams, founder of the college, transferred from Lake George where he fell in battle Sept. 8, 1755; and a memorial of Williams' men who died in the civil war and world war, will be unveiled.

The remains of Col. Williams are to have final resting place in a receptacle under the floor of the college chapel and his name as well as those of Williams' men who gave their lives in the two wars will be included in a roll of honor in the form of stone tablets on the rear wall of the chapel chancel. Thus will appear in the religious life of Williams a record of all its soldier dead beginning with the founder.

The chapel was erected as a memorial of Frederick F. Thompson, of New York city, and the memorial of the founder and the soldiers is a gift to the college of Mrs. Thompson.

Gov. Coolidge and representatives of the army and navy, including, if possible, Gen. Pershing and Admiral Sims, are expected to attend the impressive exercises marking the reception of the remains of Col. Williams. These will include a military escort and procession to the chapel which will be representative of the college and its graduates.

A descriptive tablet sunk in the stone floor of the cathedral-like chapel will mark the resting place of Col. Williams and above the inscribed panels on the wall of the chancel will appear in bronze letters this inscription: "In faithful remembrance of the founder who fell in battle and of the sons of Williams who gave their lives that the blessings of free government might endure."

National, state and Williams college battalion flags are to have permanent places in the memorial.

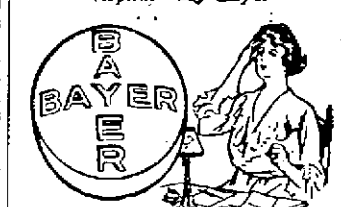

RESTORATION OF LOUVAIN LIBRARY

BERLIN, May 27.—Restoration of the famous Louvain library has been begun by the German government at a cost of more than 5,000,000 francs, says the National Zeitung. In execution of the agreement with Belgium. Restoration of paintings carried off during the war is also proceeding, the newspaper says.

According to the same authority, Germany had restored to France up to April 1 eight billion marks in cash and securities and large quantities of art works, documents and archives, and to Belgium about the same amount.

THAT there are Physicians who specialize on Infant ailments you know. All Physicians understand Infant troubles: all Physicians treat them. It is his profession, his duty, to know human ills from the Stork to the Great Beyond. But in serious cases he calls in the Specialist. Why? He knows as every Mother knows, or ought to know, that Baby is just a baby needing special treatment, special remedies.

Can a Mother be less thoughtful? Can a Mother try to relieve Baby with a remedy that she would use for herself? Ask yourself; and answer honestly.

Always remember that Baby is just a baby. And remembering this you will remember that Fletcher's Castoria is made especially for Infants and Children.

CASTORIA

The False and the True.

Advertising by the use of large space, the expenditure of huge sums of money have placed on the market, have put in your home, perhaps many articles that today have been discarded, as you will readily admit. Do you recall anything that has more modestly appealed to the public than has Fletcher's Castoria: modest in all its claims, pleading at all times—and truthfully—for our babies?

The big splash, the misleading claims may win for a time, but the honest truth-telling advertiser is like the old story of the tortoise that beat the hare.

Mothers everywhere, and their daughters, new mothers, speak frankly, glowingly, enthusiastically in praise of Fletcher's Castoria. Speak of it lovingly as a friend that has brought comfort, cheer and smiles to their little one.

GRAND LODGE WELCOMES CLAN GRANT

Clan Grant, Order of Scottish Clans, was formally welcomed into the grand lodge of Massachusetts last night, on the occasion of the first official visit of the state officers. Grand Chief Bertram Glenross of Quincy Point conducted the exercises, assisted by other officers of high rank. The meeting and installation was held in Post 120, G.A.R. hall and the exercises were followed by an entertainment program and refreshments.

Among the speakers were Grand Taniat H. F. Sample of Fall River; Grand Treasurer Thomas W. MacLean of East Boston and Chief Potter of Boston. Grand Secretary W. E. J. Graham of Roslindale outlined the procedure of a membership contest to be carried on between the clans of the state, with a gold medal prize for the winning clan.

PROPOSE CONGRESS TO DEFINE MEANING AND SCOPE OF MONROE DOCTRINE

VALPARAISO, May 26.—A pan-American congress of "internationalists," convoked by leading journalists of North, South and Central America, whose duty it would be to define the meaning and scope of the Monroe doctrine, is proposed by Juan Ignacio Galvez, a Chilean publicist, writing in El Mercurio.

The members of the congress would be chosen, according to his plan, by the newspaper publishers of each country, including Canada, five from each and would meet this year, preferably in Buenos Aires. The definition arrived at would be presented for official adoption by the next Pan-American congress which will meet in Chile.

EDUCATION AND AMERICANIZATION

Filling in on the program for Mrs. Pauline Revere Thayer of Boston, who was unable to be present, Joseph Spano, field secretary for the North American Civic League for Immigrants, was the speaker yesterday at a public meeting held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms under the auspices of the special committee on education and Americanization. Many public school masters were in the audience.

Mr. Spano stressed the acute need of establishing bureaus of information in cities which have even a small percentage of foreign born population, through which newcomers to this country might obtain invaluable information to obviate the possibility of extensive exploitation.

The speaker said the immigrants must not be patronized or underest-

"PORT SAID WICKEDEST PLACE ON EARTH"

CARDIFF, May 26.—"Port Said still is the wickedest place on earth," said Brigadier-General J. H. Bateson, principal of Wesleyan chapel, in an address to soldiers, "I know Calcutta, Bombay and Madras, better than I know London," he continued. "I have had to live in the east for a quarter of a century, and I know what Cairo and Jerusalem are; but I have seen more sin and appearances of sin in one hour in Port Said than in all the rest of my experiences."

mailed in the work of Americanization and above all things, must be treated as normal human beings. He told of well-intentioned social service workers in Boston who had been virtually chased out of foreign districts because of a lack of realization as to the extent of the immigrant's sensibilities in the matter of being patronized.

Clarence M. Weed, chairman of the special committee, said that another effort would be made to secure Mrs. Thayer as a speaker, possibly at the next meeting in about two weeks.

DANDELIONS ARE NOW IN DEMAND

WINCHESTER, Va., May 27.—Prohibition and the high cost of living has elevated the lowly dandelion to a lordly estate in this section of the country. Residents this spring are seeking the little yellow blossoms everywhere, scouring lawns where the dandelions have been considered a pest, country lanes and pasture fields, filling baskets with the blooms and the green leaves. The little blossoms go into old time dandelion wine. The leaves, young and tender, have long been eaten as greens similar to spinach.

GERMANY HAS LOST SIXTH OF COTTON INDUSTRY BUT STILL RANKS THIRD

BERLIN, May 27.—The Bremen firm of Hagedorn, in a report on the continental cotton situation, states that Germany through the loss of Alsace Lorraine has lost one-sixth of her cotton industry but is still third after the United States and Great Britain in the number of spindles and looms.

The German cotton industry is working at 25 to 30 per cent. normal and Hagedorn estimates that to occupy the continental looms fully it would require 1,500,000 bales of American cotton during the next six months.

The breweries of Great Britain have a combined annual output of between 15,000,000 and 20,000,000 standard barrels of beer.

Child Almost Dead Grandmother Saves Life

Roxbury, Mass. A grandmother in Roxbury writes: "I put great faith in your medicine, and one of my children was dying. The doctor said she could not live until morning, and I ran out to the drug store, got a bottle of Dr. True's Elixir, was so excited I gave her the half of the bottle at once, and she was up and eating the other half. I thought it either killed or cured her, but the doctor says she is dying anyway, but she did not die. She went to sleep, the first sleep for a week, and the next morning she passed two worms, red in color, six inches long. The doctor came to see if she was dead, but he ran out pretty quick, as she was sitting in her chair eating a bowl of oatmeal and milk. That was twenty-four years ago, and now she has a baby girl of her own, seven months old, who is also using Dr. True's Elixir. (Name on request.)"

Constipation, headaches, tired feeling, weakness, nervousness, indigestion, bad breath, sleeplessness, irritability, dizziness, and many other signs of sickness, can be relieved, if you take the medicine known as Dr. True's Elixir, The Family Laxative and Worm Expeller. It has done much for sick people, men, women and children, ever since 1851—over 68 years of reputation.

Take Dr. True's Elixir—give it to your children—The Family Laxative and Worm Expeller. AT ALL DEALERS. Dr. J. F. True & Co., Auburn, Me.—Adv.

WIFE OF IGNATIUS LINCOLN EMPLOYED IN DOMESTIC SERVICE IN LONDON HOTEL

LONDON, May 27.—Mrs. Lincoln, wife of Ignatius Tribitsch Lincoln, the former German spy deported from England and press censor during the recent Kapp revolt, is now employed in domestic service in a quiet hotel not far from London, says the Daily Sketch. She once had a big establishment of her own. Lincoln, the paper says, has written to his wife asking her to go to Germany, but she adheres to her decision to remain in this country and bring up her children as British subjects.

Dizzy

If you get up in the morning feeling dizzy and weak, it usually indicates a sluggish liver, or poor digestion. Aside from its unpleasantness, this condition may become dangerous; it should be checked before your vitality becomes impaired, and you are then less able to withstand disease.

A teaspoonful of "L.F." Atwood's Medicine will stimulate the action of your digestive organs, and re-establish normal conditions. Taken regularly it will quickly restore your vitality, and you will sleep soundly and awake refreshed, and clear-headed.

Powders and tablets containing Acetanilid or other coal-tar derivatives tend to weaken the heart's action. The true "L.F." simply sets natural methods in action and benefits the entire system. If you have never used it send for a bottle now. Your druggist sells it for 50c a bottle, 60 teaspoonful doses. The "L.F." Medicine Co., Portland, Maine.

NO SPELLING BOOKS IN PHILADELPHIA SCHOOLS

PHILADELPHIA, May 27.—Philadelphia public schools have no spelling books.

And spelling books have been dropped, says local educators, because they start with "cat" and "rat," and include similar words seldom used in correspondence and business.

Until a spelling book has been compiled that uses the words that are most frequently used in business and private correspondence, Louis Nussbaum, associate superintendent of public schools, announces that public schools here will compile their own lists of words.

The spelling vocabulary taught an average public school pupil is 2500 words. This is five hundred more than was found in an investigation of words in 100,000 business and personal letters.

CUBANS HOLD SUGAR FOR HIGHER PRICES

NEW YORK, May 27.—A prediction that the price of sugar would soar to 27 or 28 cents a pound within 48 hours was made yesterday by Raymond M. Wilson, sugar broker, testifying before the Lusk committee investigating alleged profiteering in sugar and other commodities.

This statement followed the disclosure by George Henry Finlay, another witness, that more than a quarter of a billion dollars have been loaned by American banks to concerns in Cuba to enable them to hold sugar.

Mr. Finlay testified that about 650,000 tons of sugar were being held in Cuban ports.

Clean Up Poison Soaked Kidneys Advises Dr. Carey

Thousands Die Every Year Because They Allow Poisonous Deposits To Accumulate in Kidneys

Don't flush your kidneys with harsh makeshifts, says Dr. Carey, they are too frail and delicately constructed to treat them rough.

For 30 years I have been prescribing Marshroot for kidney and bladder sickness and now that I have retired from active practice I have made arrangements with leading druggists to dispense this wonderful prescription at a moderate price.

Beware of kidney disease—thousands die of it every year who ought to be enjoying the blessings of life and health.

If you have specks floating before the eyes, puffs under eyes, clammy feet or moist palms, backache or sideache you ought to get a bottle of Dr. Carey's Marshroot right away.

It has conquered thousands of cases of kidney and bladder diseases and is the medicine you can always depend upon.

IMPORTANT—Dr. Daniel G. Carey has been a practicing physician for many years and his great prescription, "Marshroot," has cured thousands of sufferers from kidney and bladder troubles. It is not a patent medicine and is only sold through drug stores in order to accommodate his patients.

ARGENTINA, UNABLE TO BORROW OUTSIDE, TO RESORT TO DOMESTIC LOAN

BUENOS AIRES, May 26.—Argentine government having failed to obtain either in Europe or the United States a proposed loan to enable it to consolidate its floating debt of about $265,000,000, it now plans to resort to a domestic loan for the purpose, it is reported. President Irigoyen, it is said, intends to bring the matter before congress shortly and ask authorization to issue the bonds. Newspaper comment upon the idea is generally favorable; it being pointed out that there is no other recourse.

While the flotation of such a large internal loan will be unprecedented in Argentina, the growing wealth of the country is cited as propitious for its success. It is pointed out, moreover, that subscriptions in Argentina to the Italian loan reached $110,000,000.

During the last century the famous Yalu river of China has changed its course more than a score of times.

The announcement of another advance in the price of sugar brings a smile to the faces of holders of refining company stock if not to those of the consumers.

The New York Sun thinks that Governor Calvin Coolidge stands a good chance of getting a dark horse nomination at Chicago. Wonder if Dana's dictum, "If you see it in The Sun it's so," is still true?

Only two weeks more and the "tumult and the shouting" will have begun at Chicago, while away from the maddening crowd, behind closed doors, party rulers will be getting ready to decide who shall receive the nomination of the republican national convention.

How some of the presidential candidates, near candidates and favorite sons must envy the untroubled days of Hon. Thomas R. Marshall, vice president of the United States, who has unequivocally announced, "I do not seek the nomination for president."

The arrest of two sugar refinery heads on charges of profiteering in sugar cannot be taken to even imply that the men taken into custody are guilty, but it is a not unwelcome indication that the complaints against existing price conditions have become sufficiently acute to stir federal officials to take such action.

If the bill before congress that proposes to impose a fine of $10,000 upon counties in which lynchings take place becomes a law it ought to accomplish something toward ridding the country of a standing disgrace—providing of course it is strictly and impartially enforced. But infuriated mobs do not think of fines to be paid by the counties.

According to the census returns the city of Cambridge has failed to show as high a percentage of increase in population as that of Lowell. The new count for Cambridge is 109,456, an increase of 4617 or 4 per cent. Evidently the university city is not attracting new industries to any great extent. We have merely 3041 over Cambridge which does not offer any ground for boasting.

It would seem that the Harvard students who started a race riot at Memorial hall, because they objected to a negro waiter, might well be taken across the Charles river into what used to be called "abolition Boston" and there given a chance to look upon numerous monuments and read the accompanying inscriptions that honor sons of Massachusetts such as Garrison, Webster, Sumner and Andrew. It was the latter who said: "I know not what record of sin may await me in another world, but I do know this, that I have never been so wicked as to despise a man because he was poor, because he was ignorant, or because of the color of his skin."

AUTO SPEEDSTERS

In the city of Lawrence the other day a man was sentenced to two years in jail for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. In Haverhill on the same day, eight violators of the automobile laws were fined ten dollars each. Here in Lowell Judge Enright is dealing severely with the speedsters who endanger life on the public highways by disregarding the laws against fast driving. If the police and the courts continue thus to enforce the automobile laws quite strictly, we may soon have greater security upon the public highways.

CITY LIBRARY NEEDS

Of the importance of our city library to the present and future welfare of Lowell it ought not to be necessary to argue. It should be the centre, the very heart, of an educational system that should embrace not only the pupils in the public schools, but the whole body of the people that are capable of profiting from its resources.

The crying need of the library is for funds to buy more books—more up-to-date books that will keep the contents of the shelves fully abreast with the latest literary developments of the day. There is need of more fiction of the better class for good fiction has its educational value, and its reading may lead on to a desire for more substantial material. The greatest need, perhaps, is for a much larger collection of volumes that deal with technical subjects, sociology, finances and the historical developments of our own day and time.

WASHINGTON PARK

What was said by a reverend gentleman before the municipal council this week in favor of purchasing Washington park for a public playground was unquestionably true. These public playgrounds and athletic fields serve well the purposes of Americanizing the children of alien parents. It would indeed be a matter to be seriously regretted if the opportunity to acquire Washington park were allowed to go by default for the lack of funds or any other cause. That park is in the center of a congested district, and it will be more serviceable in the years to come than at the present time. There can be no valid argument urged against the purchase of this very desirable site, although a lease may hold it for the present.

THE OIL SUPPLY

It appears now that the price of oil is likely to advance still more during the coming summer as a result of the cost of production and the greater demand due to the over increasing use of oil instead of coal for manufacturing purposes as well as for propelling ships and automobiles. The indications are, that the consumption for 1920 will total 495,000,000 barrels of crude oil, whereas, in 1918 the entire oil output of the world was 514,000,000 barrels. It is estimated that the American consumption this year, will be 65,000,000 barrels greater than that of last year. It is true that American production has increased, perhaps 46 per cent and that the deficiency has been met by oil imported from Mexico. It is likely, also, that the United States will have to rely mainly upon Mexico to make up the deficiency in its oil requirements for the present year. If trouble continues in Mexico the production of oil in that region may be restricted or curtailed. It is further alleged that England is securing control of every purchasable oil field in the world with a view to dominating this new source of motive power.

SCOURGING IRELAND

The military regime now in force in Ireland is worse than that which Germany maintained in Belgium during the war. Bullets and bayonets are the arguments with which the demand for freedom and justice is met. England is paying dearly for Carsonism and her punishment will be extended over many years. The Irish people have shown great patience in the face of all the infamy heaped upon them at the instigation of Carson. Practically every house in the land has been ransacked over and over again in search of arms and proofs of activity against the government.

The military leaders have announced that they will use all the resources of the empire to crush the movement for "secession." Ireland can't secede for the reason that she never joined the British nation, never accepted the rule of the British invader. The effect of the government authorities against Ireland's demand for freedom is practically the same as that issued against the American colonies—to "use all the powers that God and Nature have placed in our hands."

While England pursues that policy, surely the Irish people are justified in using every power left in their hands if that be only a box of matches with which to apply the torch to the camps of the enemy. There is no denying the fact that Ireland is now in open rebellion against British authority which is maintained only by the same military forces and equipment with which England opposed Germany in the world war.

PICTURING THE PAST

Lowell and Chelmsford are to conduct imposing open air pageants in which early events in the history of the two places, and of events connected with the landing of the Pilgrims, will be pictured. The pageant is an old enough institution in other parts of the world, but in this country it has only recently begun to come into its own as a form of entertainment that is both enjoyable and informing.

The two pageants ought to open a wide vista for the imagination of those who witness them and, especially in the case of younger people, lead to an effort to obtain a more complete knowledge about the events that they see recreated anew by the scenes that are placed before them.

For instance the pageant in this city is to be given near the spot where John Eliot preached to the Indians who were once the sole occupants and owners of the land on which Lowell now stands.

How many young people in our public schools know very much about John Eliot, or of his labors that took him into the wilderness to teach the aborigines, and of the later results of these labors in making easier the way travelled by the white invaders of the land?

The pageants should, and doubtless will, prove a spur to a desire on the part of many of those who witness them to learn more about the great characters of the past.

CURTAILING OUTPUT

Curtailment in the cotton mills of southern New England may mean little or it may mean much. It is the result of disturbed market conditions. In the past the demands for increased wages were granted and the increased cost of manufacture was passed on to the consumer. Now, however, there is a revolt against the top-notch prices and the dealers can no longer dispose of clothing at the prices that prevailed some months ago. Cancellation of orders as a result of the downward trend in prices, shortage of raw material and lack of shipping facilities, appear to be the causes assigned for the curtailment; but there are probably ulterior causes which are not likely to be given out by the manufacturers. Apparently the manufacturers would not consider it a great calamity if they were obliged to shut down for a period.

It is to be hoped that nothing will occur to offer any pretext for a shut down in the textile mills. Strikes are in progress in some cities. The time is not favorable to strikes either in textile factories or elsewhere. In the first place, the present rate of production is unequal to the demand and in addition, the cost of living is so high that nobody can afford to be idle. The tide of high prices is now obviously on the turn and the mills pause while adjusting their operations to the new conditions.

KEEPING UP PRICES

For many months the cry has been going out to the laboring men of the country to work harder and produce more. They have in many cases responded nobly to the appeal, but they cannot be blamed over much if they feel that they should not be the only ones to hear the demand for greater production after reading some testimony of Edward A. Brand, secretary of the Taneyers' council of the United States, given before a senate investigating committee.

According to Mr. Brand, the "big five" packers control about 60 per cent of the hide and leather supply of the country. They have, he says, lately reduced their output with a resulting tendency to hold up prices.

Reports from various parts of the country indicate that the packers are not the only ones who are concerned in carrying out plans for keeping goods out of the market in order that the profits from present abnormal prices may be retained as long as possible.

The officials of the Federal Reserve bank have had to warn subordinate banks against the continued granting of what they call "frozen loans" that are used to finance operations in the necessities of life that are held in storage instead of being allowed to flow to the people through natural channels.

Self-interest alone would seem to be sufficient to induce the men highest up in the business world to refrain from any course of action that would have a tendency to aggravate the social unrest which has been brought about, partly at least, by the constant boosting of prices and the common belief that such prices are not wholly necessary.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

The Man About Town wonders what has become of the old-fashioned barber shop. It has joined the ranks of the late lamented so slowly and gradually that it is with something of a shock that one realizes that it has gone. A good many of us remember the old places for shaves and hair cuts. They had their rows of racks filled with china or porcelain shaving cups, each one bearing a number or the fancifully designed monogram or initials of the

Wicked Sheep

Just Like a Woman

A shriek! A splash! People ran frantically along the pier toward where a lady waved her hands to the skies and wailed that her sister had fallen into the sea. But the occasion usually produces the man. A gallant hero threw off his coat and kicked his feet clear of shoes; then he dived boldly into the waves. Swimming toward the spot where the victim of the accident had sunk, he caught her as she rose, gasping, to the surface.

"Don't struggle, madam," he said, calmly; "we are quite safe. The sea is quite calm and as clear as a mirror."

"Well, let go my arm for a minute," said the lady faintly. "I want to see if my hair is coming down."

Dying Poor

On a certain grave-stone in England is inscribed this epitaph:

What I spent I had;
What I saved I lost;
What I gave I have.

Therein is summed up the whole philosophy of the uses of wealth. The man had spent some of his fortune and had lost some of it, but at death he considered himself well off because there still remained to his credit that part of his estate that he had given away. "What I gave I have."

Only the other day another New York philanthropist announced his intention of dying poor by spending all his wealth for good works. Yet, though he stripped himself of his last penny, such a man does not die poor. By putting it to good use he increases the worth of his fortune. He converts dollars into social values. And, though in the end he be as poor as Lazarus, he is richer in the genuine treasures of spiritual satisfaction and contentment far beyond the dreams of those who pile up dollars without end and never find riches.

There is another epitaph in point.

It is carved on the tombstone of a schoolmaster who died without fortune, but was rich in the treasures of work well done.

Willie's wife is very kind. Willie's equal you can't find down by town. And they've brought me here to anchor for as long as I shall stay. The children fairly dote on my little white boat. And it's "Grandpaw, Grandpaw" all the live-long day. But it's that still of nights that I can't get to sleep. Nothing but the creaks or the foot-steps passing by. I strain my old deaf ears 'till it all seems to me as if my heart was the murmur of the waters or the seagulls' quavering cry.

The white road stretches down, farm by farm, as far as I can see. If I could follow far enough I know I'd reach the sea. O, to hear the sea birds cry and to watch the ships sail by. Just to snuff the old salt smell how happy I would be!

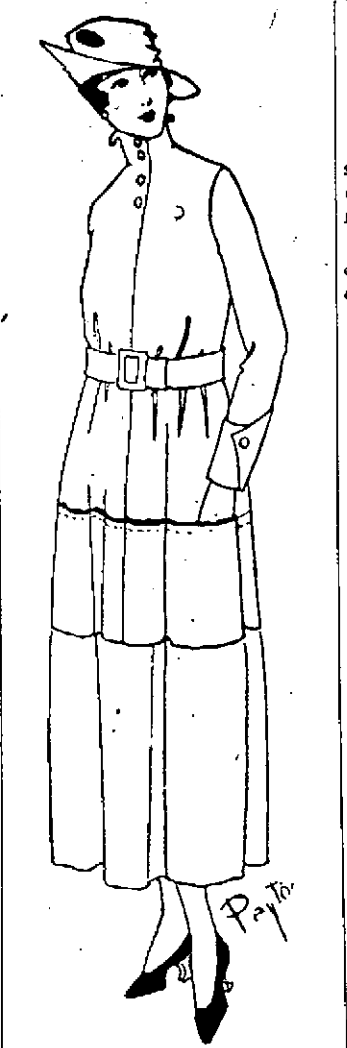

Just to hear the captain's talk, from Point Jude to Kittyhawk. Just to hear the crashin' roar of the breakers runnin' free—My eyes are sick to sight the old Fire Island light.

Where the little across the waters for to warn the ships at sea. Soon they'll lay me down to rest with my hands crossed on my breast. Scared by ropes and marked with anchors as a sailor's should be. But my soul, she'll never bide—at the She'll be pulling at her anchor and a runnin' out to sea! —Edna Valentine Trappell, in Contemporary Verse.

PRACTICAL AND ARTISTIC AS WELL

BY CORA MOORE

New York's Fashion Authority
NEW YORK, May 27.—Fashion is much concerned this year with combining the practical with the artistic, and illustrated is one excellent example of the way she contrives to bring this about. It is a coat dress of prune-colored duvetyne, adopted from one in Julia Marlowe's private wardrobe. The coat about the waist fits smoothly with the slight fullness there is at the waist gathered into a belt, and the front fastened straight up to the chin. The skirt is similarly gathered to the belt and banded half way down with a simulated hem that is machine-stitched after a narrow fold of black patent kid has been inserted as a heading. The skirt is comparatively full, the sleeves are long and finished with one variety of the new "nap" cuffs.

and said the companies this year increased their profits more than 300 per cent over last year.

In addition to the regular attorneys of the woolen companies, Mr. Wood has engaged Charles E. Hughes as counsel.

The first count in the indictment charges the company with the sale on January 7, 1920, of 79 yards of cloth, which cost $2.25 a yard for $3.67 1/2 a yard.

Another count alleges that a piece of cloth which cost $1.62 a yard was sold on January 12, 1920 for $2.27 a yard. Other counts charge similar transactions.

The indictment followed an investigation by the department of justice made at the request of President Wood, of the company, according to a statement last night by Herbert C. Smyth, special assistant to the United States district attorney.

Mr. Smyth said the investigation showed the American Woolen company controls 21 per cent of the output of woolen cloth in the country and that its prices are followed virtually by the entire trade.

Pres. Wood's April Statement

Pres. Wood in a statement made in Boston April 23 declared: "There is absolutely no just ground for the suggestion that the company has charged excessive price for its cloth or has gained an unreasonable or excessive profit."

His statement was issued in explanation of the company's annual financial statement for 1919 which showed a net profit of $15,518,415, less reserves for taxes and contingencies.

The American Woolen company, Mr. Smyth said, is the largest manufacturer of woolen cloth in the United States and to a large extent dominates the trade.

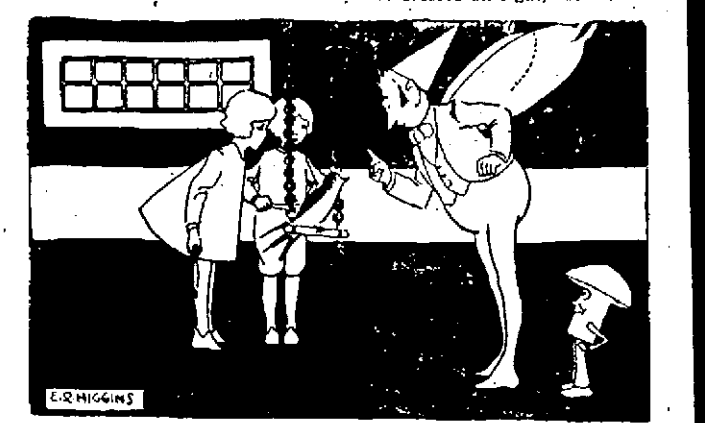

The department therefore feels that it has unearthed one of the most important cases of profiteering known. Since the amendment to the Lever act went into effect," he said.

"Most Astonishing Condition"

The investigation disclosed "a most astounding condition of affairs with regard to these companies and their president," he added.

"HOW FAR CAN YOU FLY WITHOUT STOPPING, SLEEPER?"

"Hundreds of miles," answered Sleeper proudly. "Only I could fly further still if I hadn't these tight clothes on, and this long-tailed coat!" "Hm," said Rubadub. "Hm! Just so! Do you ever rest?" "Oh, yes," admitted Sleeper. "But I don't stop. I just spread my wings out farther and the air gets under them and under my tail and holds me up. I rest nicely as I soar." "Now about your tail! How do you stick into cliffs and chimneys when they're straight up and down, as you say you do?" "Well," admitted Sleeper uneasily, but truthfully, "I dig in my claws, and

JUDGE SUSTAINS PART OF LEVER ACT

INDIANAPOLIS, May 27.—United States District Judge A. B. Anderson in the federal court late yesterday overruled the demurrer filed by Charles Evans Hughes to the finding of the court yesterday morning, which sustained five of the counts in the indictment charging 125 coal miners and operators with conspiracy to violate the Lever act.

Pleas of not guilty were entered by the attorneys for the defendants with five exceptions, and Nov. 8 was the day set for trial. Defendants in Illinois, Ohio and Missouri have brought proceedings to resist being brought into court here. Only defendants residing in Pennsylvania and Indiana were in court yesterday.

The indictment against the bituminous miners and operators was an outgrowth of the recent bituminous strike and originally contained 15 counts, based on the Lever act and the criminal code.

Judge Anderson, yesterday, however, acting on a motion made May 7 by Mr. Hughes, chief counsel for the United Mine Workers of America, quashed 13 of the counts in the indictment, and at the same time declared three sections of the Lever act—Sections 4, 26 and amended Section 4—to be unconstitutional. Five counts in the indictment, based on Section 9 of the

Vandalism is still being committed in local cemeteries, despite the efforts made by the police last summer to end it, and many reports have been received of flowers being stolen from graves.

The motive behind the theft of flowers is not clearly evident to the cemetery authorities unless it be that of pure mischief. The flowers cannot be readily resold nor is the tinseled usual about the stems or wreath-bases valuable unless a large quantity is secured. However, the flowers are being stolen and the cemetery authorities hope that some action will be taken to put a stop to this form of annoyance. The police have been notified.

LOWELL GAINS
1000 POLLS IN YEAR

There has been a gain of about 1000 polls in Lowell in the past year, according to the local assessors. At the present time there are 31,000 polls here. Following out their rule of the past in computing the city's population, that is, multiplying the number of polls by four to gain the total number of people in the city, the assessors had this year that there are 124,000 people here. However, the official federal census gives the city less than 112,000.

IRISH CASTLE BURNED

One of Ireland's Ancient Landmarks Destroyed—Incendiarism Rampant

DUBLIN, May 27.—The destruction of property in Ireland by fire is continuing. Wednesday evening, Kilbride castle, near Bandon, County Cork, one of Ireland's ancient landmarks, was destroyed. It is estimated that the damage was 100,000 pounds sterling. The castle was unoccupied. Reports do not state the cause of the fire.

Damage of 40,000 pounds sterling was caused by fire on the farm of Maj. Pollock at Gaveen, Ballydoole. The members of the family escaped with difficulty. Several valuable horses were burned. The police and military helped extinguish the flames. Reports of the fire revealed here allege that villagers who watched the fire would not assist in putting it out.

Other reports of fires received yesterday include news of an attempt to burn the court house at Waterville, County Kerry. The police saved the building, but valuable records were destroyed. The court house at Clonane, County Cork, was burned.

One hundred men attacked the police barracks at Longs George, Galway, Wednesday but were beaten off.

The coroner's inquest has been receiving attention from the campaigners. The members of a jury who sat in an inquest on two policemen who were killed received notice informing them that they "had been tried and found guilty of treason," and must bear the consequences.

Nervousness, indigestion, heart palpitation, weakness, and insomnia, which are symptoms of anemia, will disappear in a few weeks if victims of this blood will only profit by the experience of Mr. F. A. Prescott, of No. 16 Dunlap street, Brunswick, Me.

"I had an attack of malaria," says Mr. Prescott, "and this was followed by bronchitis, leaving me badly run down in health. My nerves were shattered. I was completely exhausted at night but could not get to sleep. My nerves became so weak that I would tremble all over and if I did succeed in getting to sleep tossed and rolled and the sleep did me no good. I was so weak I could barely walk and my stomach caused me great distress."

"I read of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in a newspaper and resolved to try them. I could see an improvement after one week's treatment. I slept better and felt rested in the morning. I continued taking the remedy and gradually regained control of my nerves. My stomach has improved, my appetite is keen and my strength has returned. lice station for care by Officer Cornelius Sullivan has been identified as a Boston school teacher. Through the efforts of Chief Carey of the navy recruiting station and the naval headquarters in Boston it was found that his address was 25 Sudan street, Dorchester. His sister arrived at the police station late yesterday and both were accompanied to their home by Officer Linton.

His sister stated yesterday that her brother accompanied her to a theatre on Tuesday evening and when they were returning home she missed her gloves and left him to look for them. Returning in a few minutes she found no trace of her brother, nor had the family heard anything more of him until notified by the Lowell police.

His condition was somewhat improved yesterday just before he left for his home as he could speak in disconnected sentences and was able to recognize his sister. The identification of the man was facilitated because a local newspaper man recognized him as a former naval reservist. By following up that clue his address was found.

MEETING AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

In the First Baptist church last evening the annual meeting of the Men of the Round Table was held with William W. Buzzell as the presiding officer. The meeting opened with congregational singing, followed with songs by Warren Reid and piano selections by Miss Harriet Mansur.

Church organization and the part that men could take in its upbuilding was discussed by Rev. Edward Babcock, pastor of the First Baptist church. Relating examples of the activity of the men in other parishes over which he has served, he said that if the men of the First Baptist got down to good hard work they could double the membership of the church.

During the evening the date for the annual outing was set as June 17. Before the meeting the men were the guests of the Ladies' Benevolent society when supper was served under the direction of Mrs. James Flemings, president.

WORDS OF PRAISE

Tribute to Lowell Man in K. of C. War Report

A high tribute to Commissioner John P. Salmon, former Knights of Columbus overseas secretary, is paid in a chapter of "The Knights of Columbus in Peace and War," the official account of the order's activities in the world war, which has just been published.

Secretary Philip J. Breen of the local council has just received copies of the two volumes comprising the work. It was written and compiled by Maurice Francis Egan and John B. Kennedy, both of whom were actively identified with the work of the order during the war and before. They have collected their facts from official records and from the reports of secretaries not only of councils in all parts of the country but from the men who like Commissioner Salmon, Hon. John T. Sparks and John W. Daly of this city went overseas as K. of C. secretaries.

The tribute to Commissioner Salmon is contained in the section devoted to the work of the overseas secretaries and includes an account of one experience which the commissioner had. In part the tribute is as follows:

"Secretary John Salmon achieved a reputation with the 32nd Division for his acumen in selecting men from the ranks of different companies and combining them into troupes of entertainers during the rest periods behind the lines."

"At Filley on one occasion following a vicious little engagement with enemy outposts, Salmon saw 15 men out of a group of 26 go to their death in a sudden enemy barrage."

"No prisoners were taken on either side," he reports. The dead were piled up like cordwood. I found one poor fellow by the name of Melton in a serious condition, bleeding profusely from a wound in his side. I sent two men in search of a litter while I tried to stop the bleeding, but they were gone so long that I was afraid Melton would die before they returned. A soldier assisted me and we tried to carry him, but the men bled so badly that we had to give it up. I ran into some neighboring woods after help. I ran across some pillbox and they directed me to a French canteen. There I bought three bottles of champagne for 30 francs and begged a blanket. The champagne restored the wounded man. Going back to the lines was a proud moment for me. When the boys saw us bearing the litter they gave us three rousing cheers which must have reached the enemy lines."

"Salmon was a prisoner in the work of aiding to bury the dead and, like many other Knights of Columbus, he saw that a chaplain was secured to say mass over the fallen men and that they were buried with what military honors could be given. He and Secretaries William Murray and Hugh Moore buried hundreds of dead Americans and even Germans while with the 53th Coast Artillery at Genesee."

"He was one of the Knights of Columbus who encountered German propaganda at first hand."

The roll of honor of all the Knights of Columbus from the various councils of the country who served in the war includes the names of 192 men from Lowell council, No. 72. In addition to this number now in the volume, Secretary Breen says that 100 more have been reported and that when final reports are in from members who have recently joined the order it is probable that there will be a representation of 300 veterans.

"The Knights of Columbus in Peace and War" goes back to the pre-war days of the order and shows the various activities in which the knights were engaged before the great conflict. Their part in the war, both as active participants and in assisting the fighters with every comfort, is reviewed in detail and appended to the work is a detailed account of how every cent contributed to the order's war work fund was spent.

There is also an outline of the order's reconstruction activities, its employment bureau, campaign against Bolshevism, etc. The photos of the first member of the American Expeditionary forces and the last to fall in the great conflict, both of whom were Knights of Columbus, are published with the work.

Lieut. William T. Flinn, of Kansas City, Mo., council, died in December, 1917, the first member of the American troops to fall, while Lieut. William P. Davis, of Holyoke council, who served as a chaplain was the last member of the American forces to die in the war. He fell at 6:45 a'clock on the morning of Nov. 11, 1918, the day the armistice was signed.

LAWRENCE BOUTS
Change in Card—Valger and Welling Withdraw

LAWRENCE, May 27.—All that is needed to make the big all-star boxing show here next Saturday afternoon one of the greatest pugilistic events in the east is good weather. The card is one of the best ever arranged, the Cuddy arena, where the show will be staged, is one of the largest and most conveniently located in the country, and the big demand for tickets indicates that the attendance will reach record proportions.
 So classy are the six performers scheduled to appear in the three 12-round events, that it is difficult to name the feature number. Johnny Dundee, one of the most satisfactory lightweights in the country, a boxer with head and heart, will be the champion, Benny Leonard on a number of occasions, will appear against Jack Lawlor, a recent sensation, who has a made decision to fight Dundee to his credit. Harry "Kid" Brown of Philadelphia and Freddy Jacks, the featherweight champion of England will exchange blows in another, while Earl Coleman and Al Moran, a prominent pair of batters, with records a mile long will perform in the other big event.
 Benny Valger and Joe Welling, who were on the original card have withdrawn because of injuries.
 Tommy Early and Kid Francis, local boys will open the show with a six round preliminary at 2.30 o'clock.

HEWSON AND LINDSEY LEAD IN BOWLING

High scores continue to be put up in the big handicap tournament at the Crescent allies. Dr. Hewson and Lindsey have taken the top position in the two-man competition with a score of 497. Dr. Hewson is the high man in the combination with a total of 331. He actually rolled 358, but the 13-pin handicap awarded him by the tournament officials gave him the boost.
 Harrall and McNulty are second in the two-man competition, with 480 while McBurnett and McQuade, 644, and O'Brien and Estes, 640, come next in order. Competition in the one, three and five men and five balls has not changed materially since Tuesday night.

SHAMROCK IV. LAUNCHED
 NEW YORK, May 27.—Workmen on the Thomas Edison cup challenger, Shamrock IV, which is to be launched in a race last week, were busy today preparing to step her hollow wooden mast. This spar is said to be much heavier and stronger than the previous one which snapped in a race last week.
 One of the novelties of the Shamrock is a Swedish speedometer made in a form of a tube running through the hull of the craft to the water, where the pressure of the water at the end of the tube registers the speed. This will enable her to have her tryouts for speed before the arrival of her rival mate, the 23-meter Shamrock.

MATHews vs. WEST ENDS
 On Monday afternoon the Mathews and West ends will meet in the North common and an exciting contest should result. There is much rivalry between these two teams and a purse of $50 has been agreed upon to add interest to the game. Manager Tully of the "Mats" and Manager Gannon of the West Ends will meet Friday night at the Sun office to arrange the details of the game and put their respective shares of the purse in the hands of the Sun sports editor.

FANS ANTICIPATE BIG HOLIDAY GAME

Final plans and arrangements for the big game to be played on Monday afternoon, May 31, between the South Ends and Knights of Columbus will be discussed tonight when Managers Poye and Lyons meet at The Sun office to post lineups and decide upon an umpire.

Often times last year fans expressed the regret that the Knights and South Ends could not hook up for a series to decide the city championship after the former had established prestige by defeating all comers. The South Ends had no team in the field at first time, however, and the battle had to be postponed until this year. Not only will the holiday game bring two keen teams into competition but it also will be the first big semi-pro game of the season and as such should attract a banner crowd.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The West Ends and Bellows will clash Saturday afternoon on the South common, with Mulino and Gannon the battery for the former club. As it took 10 innings to settle the last battle between these clubs, a repetition of fast ball is looked for.

BUSY PROGRAM FOR BOY SCOUTS

The following program pertaining to Boy Scout activities has been issued from the office of the scoutmaster:
 Saturday, May 29.—2, gala day at Washington park, Middlesex street.
 Monday, May 31.—Memorial day parade. Assemble at headquarters at 3 p. m.
 Friday, June 4.—7.30, second class indoor examinations.
 Saturday, June 12.—1.30, second class outdoor examinations.
 Friday, June 18.—7.30, first class indoor examinations.
 Saturday, June 19.—Supper hike. Leave headquarters at 3 or be at Robertson's farm (next beyond end of Dover street car line) at 4. Games, contests and camp fire.

The plan for gala day this year is now as a general event, though two troops have had a similar troop event in the past. It is therefore an experiment and requires the interest and cooperation of everybody to make it successful.

If it is successful it will be worth doing on a larger scale next year when all will better understand how to go about it. We believe without question that it will be a success as a first trial.

Two things are being accomplished which are big steps. One is the active planning of the event by a committee representing the scout masters themselves. The second is the active cooperation of a committee of the council with this former committee.

The more the men who lead the boys directly and the men who direct the work as a whole get together, the better it will be for scouting. Each group will better appreciate that the other group is composed of fine fellows with as fine a spirit as can be found anywhere; of men who are devoting a large part of their spare time, and even some that is spared only at a sacrifice, for the benefit of others, both through scouting and in other ways.

Fifty scouts in uniform are wanted to assist at the pageant on June 5 in keeping the aisles clear, etc. Of course this means scouts in neat uniforms. We will ask for volunteers at once.

Two buyers are also wanted to take part in the pageant. A rehearsal will be held at 5 o'clock on Thursday, May 27, which they will be expected to attend.

It is becoming more and more the custom in the scout field generally for troops to go to the council camps in a body rather than as individuals. We hope that some of the troops will take up the idea here. We can arrange so that they can be together in many respects as if in separate camps, and at the same time have the advantage of the general camp.

RETAIL GROCERS WILL REDUCE PRICES

(Special to The Sun.)
 STATE HOUSE, Boston, May 27.—Practically all of the retail grocers who have been making excessive profits have agreed to reduce their prices to the level recommended by the commission on the necessities of life. It was announced by that commission today.

During the past week the commission has received back nearly all of the 7000 questionnaires it sent out recently to retail grocers in the state. These are now being examined by a special force of clerks and up to the present, no case of profiteering has been found.
 "There is absolutely no foundation," a representative of the commission said today, "for the many rumors which are being circulated to the effect that many grocers and other retail dealers in large numbers have been fined for profiteering. This department has imposed no such fines and it has no authority to do so. And so far as we know the same is true of the department of justice."
 The commission has found that offending grocers invariably reduce their prices to the proper level as soon as their attention is called to the excessiveness of their prices. Most of the overcharging is found to be due to ignorance of the Lever act and of the margins of profit allowed on commodities which are considered necessities of life.

The commission takes the attitude that prices slightly above the average are justifiable in the case of grocers who maintain an expensive delivery service for their customers. Obviously, such grocers must have sales prices slightly in excess of those charged in stores which are conducted on a cash-and-carry basis.

The recently enacted law prohibiting "combination" sales, designed to prevent grocers from requiring the purchase of additional goods when only sugar is wanted, is, in a few instances, being violated through ignorance, the commission states. Any infraction of this law should be brought to the attention of the local police of a city or town.

BAR TALKING MACHINES
Move to Forbid Use of Autos is Defeated

LOGANSPORT, Ind., May 27.—A ban on the use of or presence in the homes of their members of all talking machines, phonographs and graphophones, was voted at the annual conference of the Old Order Branch of the Brethren church which came to a close last night after a five days' session on a farm, 12 miles east of here. The proposal to have talking machines in the homes caused considerable discussion and for a time threatened to carry, but was voted down by a narrow majority.
 Some of the more conservative members sought to obtain action forbidding the use of the automobile, calling it a "devil" machine, but the opposition was greatly in the minority.

NEW POLICY IN PENSION SYSTEM

(Special to The Sun.)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, May 27.—The state began an entirely new policy in the administration of its pension system when in the house the members went on record as being in favor of a bill permitting pensions to war veterans only when the recipients can prove they actually need them.

The measure would place on half pay all public employees veterans of the German and Spanish American wars who have served for at least ten years and who being incapacitated at that time can show that their total income from all sources, exclusive of the retirement allowance, does not exceed $500.

The bill was supported by Rep. Geo. Pearl Webster of Haverhill, a veteran of the Spanish-American war, who declared its enactment is necessary not merely for the benefit of the service men but for the people as a whole as well.
 "For years," he said, "the residents of the state have been paying millions of dollars for the support of public employees on their retirement. I do not doubt but that a large proportion of this money has been expended in a worthy purpose. On the other hand, a substantial portion of it has gone to persons who have not needed a penny of the gratuity."

"These for years were in the enjoyment of comfortable positions at salaries which up to but a short time ago were envied by large numbers of our citizens. During the time in which they were employed they accumulated sufficient to keep them in comfort for the rest of their days. Yet when they retired they were given pensions, coming from the thousands of persons who could ill afford to stand this burden."

"For several generations this has been going on. With the increase in the public business the number of persons who were eligible to the pensions grew. No one up to now has proposed any plan under which it would be possible to differentiate between those employees who needed a pension and those who do not. I believe the bill under consideration is one which will provide this needed change."

Mr. Webster brought about the passage of the bill, after it had been unfavorably reported by the house ways and means committee.

FIND BODY OF TEWKSBURY FARMER

The body of Cyril Walter Parsons, a well known farmer of West Tewksbury, was found hanging from a beam in the stable he formerly owned in the village yesterday afternoon, the cause of death being suicide, according to Acting Medical Examiner Alling. Mr. Parsons, who had not been feeling well for some time, sold his farm in West Tewksbury to Kari Heitenreich and went to live with the Heaver family, a short distance from his former home. The man was despondent because of illness, but his actions did not arouse suspicion. Tuesday morning he visited Mr. Heitenreich's garage and rented a space for his automobile. He was not seen again and yesterday a search was started for him with the result that one of the neighbors found him hanging to a beam in Mr. Heitenreich's barn. In one of his pockets was found a bottle containing strychnine. Deceased is survived by a wife and several children living in this city.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS' EXTENSION WORK

The organization of the Camp Fire Girls has reached its eighth birthday. For eight years its program has grown and developed and has proven itself to be a most adaptable program for adolescent girls. The membership of the organization has been constantly increasing, until now there are over 125,000 Camp Fire Girls in every state, on every continent, in 16 foreign countries, therefore Camp Fire Girls living up to the program of give service.

What is there in this program for girls' activities which so appeals to all types of girls all over the world?

The basis of the Camp Fire organization is the home.

The corner-stone of the structure of Camp Fire is the home. The ceremonial costume, which is modeled on the plan of the Indian girl's dress has led to the general idea that the Camp Fire Girls represent tribes of Indians and do nothing but camp out of doors. To believe this is as absurd as to believe that the Greek letter societies in college represent Greek cities and that the members do nothing but follow Greek pastimes, such as blacking boots, or that the Masonic orders do nothing but build walls, or that the Knights of Columbus are organized to discover new worlds.

The world will indeed be many years older before the home will cease to be the responsibility of the women. The tasks in all homes everywhere fall upon the girls and women of those homes. These tasks of making the home should be kept from becoming chores, and this, Camp Fire does for its girls. The work of the home, if it be only the washing of dishes or the making of beds, is dignified and made interesting by being made worthy of recognition and praise when it is done well. The system of awarding honor beads for doing these tasks well not only keeps them from becoming humdrum and sordid, but it also clothes them in romance and stimulates new interest in what would otherwise be dull and uninteresting. There is a list of 700 honors in the Camp Fire Girls Manual, 200 of which pertain to work in or about the home.

There is no girl in any community

to whom many of the things in the list cannot apply.

The watchword of the Camp Fire Girls is Wohelo—a word made from the first two letters of the three words, work, health and love—and their slogan is "Give Service." These two ideals are most vital in the life of every Camp Fire Girl. Thousands of Camp Fire Girls are sending money to support orphans in France and Belgium; thousands of them are helping in the support of babies in this country—this they call "adopting" babies; nor do they limit their service to the most spectacular things. Letters are constantly being received which tell of Camp Fire Girls going into the hospitals and reading to the children in the wards or of carrying flowers and dainties to the older invalids in their towns, or of taking children to the parks; 74,620 of them released their mothers from important work in connection with food conservation campaigns by caring for the younger children during the last year of the war; 65,174 Camp Fire Girls practiced rigorous food conservation themselves during the war. Long before we entered the war, the Camp Fire Girls organized themselves into Minute Girls with a definite program of economy, service and health; $5,555 carried out this program to the letter not an easy program either. Their reconstruction program has been endorsed by President Wilson.

To organize a Camp Fire group, two very important things are necessary: First, to find a proper person for guardian; and, second, to have the group of at least six congenial girls. When these things are done, the rest is easy. Upon request an application blank and literature on organization will be sent to you from national headquarters, 31 East 17th street, New York city.

Up to the present time, the organization of the Camp Fire Girls has been self-supporting. The dues of its members have paid for the expenses of running the big organization. With the increase in expenses, the income of the organization is not big enough to provide any budget for extension. Thousands of requests are being received at national headquarters from groups of girls who want to organize as Camp Fire Girls, but who can find no one to act as guardian. We need money to send out field organizers who will find and train leaders. We need district executives who will visit each group, carry on training courses for the benefit of the guardians, and help the guardians and the girls. It is for this extension work that the Camp Fire Girls are appealing to their relatives and friends to take associate and sustaining memberships in their organizations. The war record of the Camp Fire Girls shows that these girls answered all the calls to help. It is the turn of their parents, their relatives, their friends to help the girlhood of America now.

Georgian territory being used as a base for attacks against the Bolsheviks. The reported willingness of the Armenians to negotiate with the Bolsheviks is explained in official circles here by the fact that they are exposed to attacks by the Turkish nationalists on the one side and by the Bolsheviks on the other, and probably have in view an arrangement assuring them tranquilly on their northern boundary.

M. Cornell, brother-in-law of Dr. Henry Zimmerman for whose murder Miss Jennie Zimmerman is on trial, was cross-examined by the defense today in reply to questions which denied that Dr. Cornell took oaths of testimony during the earlier days of the trial or that he had counselled with District Attorney Wright on the case from the start, helping to prepare the case for the commonwealth. He denied knowledge of a registered letter sent to Mrs. Cornell by Miss Zimmerman and returned unopened, but later in reply to questions said that Jennie had called up by telephone and told him the contents of this letter and that he had talked with his wife about the letter and knew it had been received and returned unopened. To questions whether or not he hated Miss Zimmerman, he replied that he "guessed not."

POLAND NEEDS RAW MATERIALS

Work Remedy for Most of

Head of Baldwin Locomotive Works Back From Poland
Describes Conditions There

NEW YORK, May 27.—The most pressing need in Poland is raw material to enable the people to go to work, declared Samuel M. Vauclain, president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works at the inaugural luncheon of the Polish-American chamber of commerce and industry here today. He recently returned from Poland, where he closed contracts for delivery of American locomotives.

Work is the remedy for most of the evils of central and southeastern Europe, Mr. Vauclain stated, and American businessmen should not worry about the stability of these governments, but grant them all of the credit possible. The Poles are ready to resume their economic life, he asserted, but lack the implements and tools. These must come largely from the United States, he said.

"This infant republic has already passed the bottle period, and beefsteak and onions will hereafter do the rest," he said. "Trade is the beefsteak and onions necessary."

Mr. Vauclain also appealed for the re-establishment of the war finance corporation so that credit could be advanced to central and southeastern Europe.

"America can send millions of dollars into Central and Southeastern Europe," said Mr. Vauclain, "but no permanent good will ensue. These peoples do not want charity. What they pray for is your confidence in them and a willingness to trust them for a period for such machinery as will enable them to work—to develop their resources—to export their surplus and by their own earnest effort become strong, self-supporting and dignified. If you think this new government of Poland is weak, forget it."

"As soon as transportation can be bettered all sorts of textile machinery is needed to employ people's restive for action. Agricultural machinery is needed to cheapen and increase production."

"Here is my diagnosis of this very complex situation—made after a careful survey of the entire southeastern section of Europe from the Baltic beginning at Danzig, to Warsaw, Cracow, Lemberg, Czernowitz, Bucharest, Belgrade and Trieste: Work is the remedy. Nothing but every day hard work and hundreds of thousands of anxious hearts and willing hands are ready to seize upon the first opportunity that is offered."

LOWELL MAY HAVE TRAFFIC BUREAU

The chamber of commerce traffic committee, Benjamin J. Benoit, chairman, will meet tonight at 8 o'clock to discuss the question of a traffic bureau in Lowell, with a traffic manager in charge. The installation of such a bureau has been agitated in the city for some time and it is pointed out that it would be of great value to small shippers. Such a system would look after all railroad and shipment problems for men and concerns that do not employ traffic managers and inasmuch as similar bureaus have been operated with unqualified success in other cities and have been generously patronized, the question is believed worthy of serious consideration as applicable to Lowell, where there is a large quantity of small shippers.

LOWELL TEXTILE SCHOOL GRADUATION

The commencement exercises for the day classes of the Lowell Textile School will be held in the school hall Friday afternoon, June 4, at 2:30 o'clock. It is expected about 25 students will receive their degrees and diplomas.

Vaughan, professor of social service at the Boston university, whose address will be on "The World Sweep for Democracy." There will be music by the Lowell Textile School orchestra, an address of welcome by one of the trustees of the school and the presentation of the medal of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers.

PALMER ANSWERS QUESTIONNAIRE

Opposes Government Ownership of R. R. but Favors Control of "Necessities"

Would Eliminate Excess Profits Taxes for Higher Taxes on Incomes

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Opposition to government ownership of railroads, endorsement of federal control of manufacture and distribution of "necessary commodities," and elimination of excess profits taxes in favor of higher taxes on incomes from investments characterized the reply today of Attorney General Palmer to the recent questionnaire submitted to presidential candidates and others by the national board of farm organizations.

"The right of free speech," Mr. Palmer said, "must be carefully guarded and preserved."

"I would have men preach as radical doctrine as they will," he continued, "so long as they strive to make that doctrine effective by peaceful methods. But the right of free speech is not the right of unbridled speech without responsibility."

Stating his views as to "direct dealing between producer and consumer," Mr. Palmer said: "I believe that the time has come when, in the interests of the producer on the farm and the consumer in the centers of population, there should be government regulation of the exchanges dealing in foodstuffs and in securities of corporations whose business has to do with commodities which are known as necessities."

As to the railroads, Mr. Palmer said: "Private ownership and management, under strict government supervision, with facilities for the prompt adjustment of all disputes arising out of demands of employees, shippers or the public, will give the best transportation service to the country."

LAWRENCE MEN ENLIST HERE

Chief Carey, of the local navy recruiting station, sent one man to Boston late yesterday afternoon. He was Paul Gillespie, of 417 Essex street, Lawrence, and he went down as an apprentice seaman for a musketeer.

Because there is no recruiting station in Lawrence all men signed for the navy are enlisted by the Lowell office. Such matters are facilitated considerably by the aid given by Chief Demers' auto, for he makes frequent trips to the down river city to canvass for recruits or to visit prospective seamen. Though Chief Demers owns the auto he is allowed a certain amount each month by the government for gasoline and repairs.

LOCAL ASSESSORS FINISH WITH CORPORATION PROPERTY AND THE ASSESSING OF POLLS

The local assessors have completed their tabulations of corporation property and within a short time will begin work on fixing valuations of property in general. While it has not been definitely decided, there is a possibility that there will be an increased valuation this year.

The assessing of polls has also been completed and a large staff of clerks is now on work getting data ready for the city treasurer so that he may prepare and send out tax bills.

JAMAICA GINGER CASE IN POLICE COURT

Harry Cohen, of Arlington street, Chelsea, who was arrested yesterday on Dutton street, for the illegal keeping of liquor, was granted a continuance in police court this morning until next Tuesday. Cohen was in charge of a large truck belonging to the Paul Rovers Wholesale Grocery company of Boston, which he was driving to the various small stores in this city to sell his cargo of Jamaica ginger. The truck was loaded with about one hundred gallons of the liquor in 6450 bottles which was transferred to the cellar of the police station. A representative of the grocery company was present this morning and requested that the case be continued. The defendant was released on bail.

The charges of larceny from the person and assault and battery made against John Morowski were put over until next Thursday.

The charge preferred against Louis Verid, proprietor of a local taxi company, for violation of the automobile laws, was continued until tomorrow. Information to be obtained from the highway commission meantime. The complaint against Verid states that he unlawfully used the license plates belonging to a Packard car upon a Pierce Arrow, and that the latter car was not properly registered. The defendant claims that he received permission from the highway commission to use the plates in question.

The police arrested a young man by the name of Nicholson at the Community Service club late yesterday on suspicion. The arresting officer thought he recognized the man as an escaped convict from state prison in Charlestown and that he had made a big catch. In court this morning, although Supt. Welch found that he had a record for past offenses, Nicholson was released with the warning that if he were found wandering about this city he would be arrested as a vagabond. There was no charge against the young man other than suspicion.

NO TRACE OF ESCAPED CONVICT TRIO

BOSTON, May 27.—With every police official in New England searching for them, with orders to take them, dead or alive, and with the powerful machinery of the Boston police department and Massachusetts district police running at top speed in effort to effect their capture, there is not a trace of Herman L. Barney, Harry Munster and Charles Ward, the desperate convict trio that escaped from Charlestown state prison about midnight Tuesday.

Their escape from prison—one of the most sensational and best planned in penal annals—has been followed by a perfect getaway.

Despite their long association in the underworld, and the fact they were hunted by police on other occasions they have succeeded not only in getting away, but in completely covering their trail.
